State College Building in Progress Totals $48 Million

Richmond Daily Register, Richmond, Ky. Jan. 2, 1962

Booming enrollment figures, higher this year than ever before at the University of Kentucky and four of the five State-supported colleges, have pointed up the need of the $48 million construction program currently under way at the State's institutions of higher learning.

Besides increased enrollments—more than 15 per cent higher than last fall—expanded curricula and outdated facilities have also contributed to the need for the step-up in building.

To supply this need, construction totaling more than $48 million is currently under way at the six State institutions. Another $16 million in projects is in the design stage or under contract. And an additional $4 million in construction has been completed recently.

Financing of the construction program for the University and State colleges is being handled mainly by revenue bonds, with some assistance from the capital construction fund.

The University of Kentucky has by far the most construction in progress at present—more than $25 million. The amount of work now going on at other State colleges includes: Eastern State College at Richmond, $8,300,000; Murray State College at Murray, $5,200,000; Morehead State College at Morehead, $4,150,000; Western State College at Bowling Green, $3,400,000; and Kentucky State College at Frankfort, $475,000.

Each of these schools except Kentucky State reported a record enrollment this fall. The Frankfort college reported an enrollment of 708 students; the record there was 710 several years ago.

The University of Kentucky has another $13 million in construction projects in the planning stage. At other State colleges the estimated cost of projects being planned includes: Eastern, $2,100,000; Western, $500,000; Murray, $1,445,000; Morehead, $805,000; and Kentucky State, $685,000—totaling almost $10 million.

WORK RECENTLY was started on the Bell Health and Physical Education Building at Kentucky State College in Frankfort. This architect's drawing shows the $389,000 building which will house the college gymnasium and swimming pool, along with other health and physical education facilities. The new building is expected to be completed in late spring or early summer of 1962.

THIS AERIAL VIEW of Eastern State College shows part of the face-lifting under way on the campus at Richmond. At the time this photograph was taken, construction was in progress on the Ault Maintenance Building and on an addition to the Fitzpatrick Arts Building (lower right). The site unoccupied at center and left will be the location of another women's dormitory and additional recreation facilities. This was formerly the site of Vets' Village, the old married-student housing project, which now has 144 new units in Brockton. Work at upper left is an addition to Case Hall, women's dormitory, and at upper right to Martin Hall, men's dormitory.

CHEMISTRY-PHYSICS BUILDING at the University of Kentucky in Lexington is being built at a cost of $5,800,000. This aerial view, taken during an early phase of construction, shows work on the four-story structure. Designed to be one of the finest chemistry-physics facilities in the South, the building faces Rose St. near the home of U. K. President Frank G. Dickey (at left in photograph). Completion of the building will allow renovation for use by other departments of buildings now housing the chemistry and physics departments. An annex (below) to East Men's Hall on the campus of Morehead State College is nearing completion. This picture, taken during construction on the $529,353 project, shows the four-story brick addition. A covered walkway connects the annex with East Men's Hall. The annex is one project in a $4,150,000 construction program currently in progress at the college.

THE NEW Kelly Thompson Science Hall at Western State College at Bowling Green was occupied at the opening of the 1961-62 school year. The giant block-long, three-story brick-and-concrete structure was dedicated early in the school year. Built at a cost of $1,300,000, the building has complete facilities, including classrooms and laboratories, for the departments of chemistry, physics and biology. These departments had previously been housed in two other buildings on the campus.

MURRAY STATE COLLEGE'S two largest departments—business and education—will soon have a new home. This architect's drawing shows the $1,189,811 classroom building expected to be completed in the summer of 1962. It will consist of two wings—one of four floors and one of three floors—to be connected by an enclosed passageway. Completion of the building will give other departments a chance to expand in the facility which now houses the business and education departments.

LOUIS E. ARVIN

BARTOLO J. SPANO

Three Added To Western Faculty

Three new members have been added to the faculty at Western State College, according to Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

Miss Pauline Lowman and Louis E. Arvin have joined the department of mathematics, and Bartolo J. Spano has joined the department of psychology.

Miss Lowman, a native of Newton, N. C., was awarded the B. S. degree by Lenoir Rhyne College, Hickory, N. C. Following graduation from Lenoir Rhyne, Miss Lowman was awarded a graduate fellowship by the University of Alabama where she received the M. A. degree. She has done further graduate work toward the Ph.D. degree at the University of North Carolina.

Prior to coming to Western, Miss Lowman taught at Elon College, N. C. She previously served as an assistant professor at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Tex., and has taught at East Carolina College and in junior colleges in North and South Carolina.

A native of Loogootee, Ind., Arvin was awarded the B. S. degree in mechanical engineering by Purdue University. He has done graduate work at Indiana University and Indiana State.

Prior to joining the Western faculty, Arvin taught in the Orleans, Ind., high school. He has also taught at the Otwell, Ind., high school, and was a design engineer for the Sunbeam Corporation, Chicago, before entering the teaching profession. He also has devoted several years to farming interests in Indiana.

A veteran of World War II, Arvin served in the U. S. Navy from 1942-45 as an engineering officer. He is married to the former Elizabeth Nightengale.

Spano is a native of Cortland, N. Y., where he received his early education. He attended St. Thomas College in St. Paul, Minn., and was awarded the A. B. degree by Maryknoll College in Glen Ellyn, Ill., in 1956.

From 1956 until 1960, Spano pursued graduate work in theology and education at Maryknoll Seminary, Maryknoll, N. Y., and at the University of Buffalo, N.Y.

Spano entered the University of Illinois in June of 1960 for further graduate work and was awarded the M. A. degree by Illinois in August, 1961. He was awarded a Public Health grant to initiate work toward the doctoral degree in clinical psychology at the University of Florida, where he has been since September of 1961.

Spano is married to the former Jolene Ann Myers of Urbana, Ill.

Thompson To Speak At 4-County Western Alumni Banquet

Kelly Thompson, president of Western State College, will speak at a four-county Western Alumni banquet Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the new Hancock County School.

The annual banquet will be for Western alumni living in Hancock, Daviess, Ohio, and McLean counties.

Three To Join Western Faculty At Start Of Spring Semester

Three more members will join the faculty of Western State College at the beginning of the spring semester on Feb. 2, Kelly Thompson, president, announced today. S. Reza Ahsan will join the department of geography and geology; Holland Earl Boaz will join the department of industrial arts and Jack D. Neale will join the department of history.

Ahsan is a native of India where he received his early education. He was awarded the M. S. degree and the LL.B. degree by Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh, U.P., India in 1956.

From 1956-58, Ahsan served on the faculty at the University of Dacca, Pakistan, as a member of the geography department. Since 1958, he has studied at the University of Florida, Gainesville, for the Ph.D. degree which he expects to receive in June.

At the University of Florida, he worked on the Florida atlas project during 1958-59, and was a fellow in arts and sciences during 1959-61. He was awarded a traveling fellowship by the Council on Economic and Cultural Affairs, Inc., New York for field study in Trinidad, West Indies, during April-September of 1961.

Ahsan also served as a fellow under an Asia Foundation Research Grant at the American Geographical Society, New York, during the summer of 1960, and has presented papers at national and regional meetings of the Association of American Geographers. He is a member of numerous geographical societies and related groups.

Ahsan is married to Khursheeda K. Ahsan.

Boaz is a native of Fulton, and was awarded the B.S. degree by Western in 1952. He was awarded the M. S. degree by Texas A. & M. in 1955, and has been working toward the Ph.D. degree at the University of Missouri since June of 1960.

Following his graduation from Western in 1952, Boaz served two years in the U. S. Air Force before entering Texas A. & M. for graduate study. From 1956-58, he taught in the Jefferson County school system, and then taught in the Antioch, Ill., high school from 1958-60.

While enrolled at the University of Missouri as a graduate student, Boaz also served as an instructor in the engineering school of the university.

S. REZA AHSAN

HOLLAND E. BOAZ

Boaz is married to the former Polly Ann Warren, also a Western graduate. They have three children.

Neale, a native of Birmingham,

England, is rejoining the Western history department after an absence of five months. Since September he has been engaged in work toward the Ph.D. degree at the University of Kentucky. Neale first joined the Western faculty in February, 1961.

City And Western Featured In Magazine

Bowling Green was featured in an article in the October issue of L&N magazine. The article discussed the tremendous expansion and progress achieved in the past decade, and readily admitted that Bowling Green's prime asset is Western Kentucky State College. The article stated that six years ago there were 1608 students enrolled for the fall semester; this fall there are now 4,792 full time students enrolled.

Also included were improvements of the last few years, which included erection of several dormitories. Just completed in time for this fall's opening session, the new Kelly Thompson Science Hall, costing $1.3 million, is the latest thing. This winter, construction will begin on a dual-purpose academic - athletic building, to cost about $2.5 million. This near fabulous structure will be round, large enough to spin a football field in; used every day for classes, assemblies and other functions. And - most important to sports fans - it will seat 13,000 spectators around its basketball floor.

Bowling Green's first fame and name were evolved from a round bowling ball. Its modern - day national fame, and the recognition of its name have been most closely associated in recent years with another round ball - this the basketball as handled by the perennially adept Hilltoppers of Western's Coach Ed Diddle.

Dr. Kelly Thompson, alert to the first fame shed on his school by the prowess and sportsmanship of Ed Diddle's great cage teams, is moving to provide for the college's role in the crucial academic field. Though boasting over 55 years of achievement, Western is just beginning to reach its potential, according to Dr. Thompson.

4 Members Added To Western English Department Faculty

Four new members have joined the faculty of Western State College as members of the department of English, Kelly Thompson president, has announced.

New members are Mrs. Edith O. Curry, Miss Mary Ellen Pitts, John Adams, and Joseph M. Boggs.

Mrs. Curry is a native of Cave City and was a teacher in the Bowling Green city school system from 1951 until she resigned recently. She was awarded the B. S. degree by Western in 1954, and was awarded the M. A. degree by the same institution in 1960.

She previously served as a part-time instructor in the English department at Western, and was a classroom teacher in the Barren County school system for one year.

Mrs. Curry is a member of the Kentucky Education Association, the National Education Association, and the First Baptist Church of Bowling Green. She has two children, Mrs. Joan Curry Lively, Louisville, and Lerond L. Curry.

Miss Pitts is a native of Sheffield, Ala., where she received her early education. She was awarded the B. S. degree by Florence State College in 1960, and was awarded the M. A. degree by the University of Florida this month.

While completing graduate work at Florida, Miss Pitts served as a graduate teaching assistant in the department of English.

She is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English society; Sigma Sigma Kappa, social science honorary; Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society; and Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society.

Adams is a native of Chicago, but received his early education in Michigan. He was awarded the A. B. degree by Kalamazoo College in 1960, and was awarded

MRS. EDITH O. CURRY

MARY ELLEN PITTS

JOHN ADAMS

JOSEPH M. BOGGS

the M. A. degree by the University of Alabama in January.

While completing graduate work at Alabama, Adams served as a graduate assistant from September, 1960, until January, 1962.

Adams is the author of an article on Freshman English which has been accepted for publication in "Improving College and University Teaching."

A native of Harrisonburg, Va. Boggs was awarded the A. B. degree by West Virginia University in 1958, and the M. A. degree by the same institution last month.

Boggs has served as a graduate assistant in English at West Virginia since September 1960.

From 1958-60, he was a member of the U. S. Air Force, serving as a radar weapons control officer in Louisiana and North Africa.

Boggs is married to the former Ann Nesselrodt, and has two children, Michael David, 2, and Rebecca Jo, six months.

Ruby's Report

'If They Set Four-Minute Pace In The Mile, I'll Stay With 'Em,' Says Grelle, Who Paced Beatty

By EARL RUBY, Courier-Journal Sports Editor

"If they set a four-minute pace, I'll stay right with them," said Jim Grelle, U. S. Olympic miler, who arrived here last night for the Mason-Dixon Games at the Fairgrounds today and tonight.

"I don't know where I'll be at the finish, but I hope it will be on top!"

Grelle was one of three Los Angeles Track Club teammates who took turns setting the pace for a quarter-mile each in Jim Beatty's history-making 3:58.9 mile in the Los Angeles meet Saturday. . . . It was the first sub-four-minute mile ever run on an indoor track.

"Each of us was to set a quarter-mile pace of 60 seconds or better," Jim explained. "My assignment was to set it between the half and three-quarters. I did it, all right, but finished in 4:07. That wasn't good.

"I've done 4:00.1 outdoors, and think I can do four flat indoors under ideal conditions.

"I've just seen the Fairgrounds track and can say it is so much better than the Los Angeles 11-lap track, that I think Beatty would have made his mile in 3:57 if he had run it here.

"This gives me hope that I may come close to or achieve the 4-minute mile here.

"But that will not be my objective. My No. 1 objective is to win the race; To beat Keith Fungman and Vic Reeve, my old teammates under Coach Bill Bowerman at Oregon.

"They are great young runners and have been under an excellent coach. I have been doubly fortunate in having started under Bowerman and since September having had the benefit of training under Mihaly Igloi, the great Hungarian coach who defected during the Olympics of 1956 and now is coach of the L. A. Track Club."

'Flutter-Bug'

Home-Made Lure—Robert L. "Bob" Cummins of Mt. Vernon says he enjoyed the column on new fishing lures and the reference to Blick Smith's "Walkie-Talkie," a lure made by affixing a Jitterbug flange to the face of a Dalton Special.

"This recalled my own 'Flutter-bug,'" he writes. "I took the spinner from an old Tandem-Spinner and fixed it on the back end of an old wooden Jitterbug. When I retrieve it the Jitterbug flange works in its usual manner and the spinner makes a fluttery noise. Near the end of the retrieve the wobble stops, but the spinner continues to spin right up to the boat. I have had several hard strikes almost at the boat."

Bob suggests we write more about fishing in the Report. This we surely will do when fireside fishing dies and waterside fishing begins.

Hardin Thompson—It's good to be able to report that Hardin Thompson, son of Kelly

Jim Grelle

Thompson, president of Western, has come through his third brain operation successfully and is making wonderful—almost miraculous—recovery. . . . The surgery, performed at Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville, has been for the removal of a brain tumor.

N.C.A.A. Tickets—Jim Browitt, Fairgrounds general manager, reports that his staff has begun mailing out tickets for the N.C.A.A. basketball finals. . . . "But tell those who have ordered tickets not to panic if they don't hear from us in the next day or two," he said. "The mailing will take about 10 days."

Football To Fleming!

Comeback—Football will return to Fleming County after a lapse of 30 years, it was decided at a meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday. . . . Fleming County High will hire a coach this spring and field a team for the season of 1963.

This is the biggest news for football fans in that area since a horse used Bruce Dudley as a football shortly before World War I. . . . Bruce played for the old Flemingsburg High School.

A tip of the hat this morning to the Fleming County Kiwanis Club, which got the old ball rolling again, and to Glen Ison and his committee which dug up the facts and figures on cost and got the Kiwanians to put up the first $1,000.

Several other nearby counties have begun or gone back to football during the last year or two—Mercer, Harrison and Bourbon.

Applicants for the coaching job are being received by Arthur Cotterill, superintendent, at Flemingsburg.

Why Not Fans' Clinic?

Suggestion Dept.—"I am interested in knowing why certain things happen in sports," writes Paul M. Ferrell. "I am sure many other fans are just as curious and uninformed.

"Why not, at the start of a season, such as basketball or football, have a regulation game played as a demonstration game, with each coach explaining over the public address system what his boys are doing or attempting to do? They might define as they go, such terms as blocking, screening, etc."

Baseball In Air—Recent springlike weather moved Mrs. Venita Powell to send in this bit of poetry which has a diamond twist. "I can hardly wait for opening day," she says. . . . The poem, entitled "Springtime Matilda," goes like this:

My Aunt Matilda used to go a little crazy in the spring

When crocuses appeared in snow and robins opened beaks to sing.

With flying hair and flying skirt and rake and trowel and bag of seed.

She excavated tons of dirt and execrated every weed.

I thought her conduct more than odd and deemed her wits had quite departed.

For clearly spring was sent by God to get the baseball season started.

For the first time in the history of telephone service in Bowling Green and Warren County telephone users are going to find themselves greeted by a picture of a local scene on the directory cover.

The full color photograph is of Western's imposing Henry Hardin Cherry Hall at the head of College Street.

The photograph credited to Tommy Hughes of the Ches Johnson studios, is a summer scene showing the added beauty of the building's beautiful landscaping.

Bowling Green is the second city in Kentucky to be thus honored by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company. Last year Louisville's directory featured a picture of a local scene.

In the foreground of the photograph is the bronze statue of Dr. Cherry, the work of the late Lorado Taft, famed Chicago sculptor. The impressive statue erected in 1937, is the last work executed by Taft and is one of the two in Kentucky by the famed artist, of which Kentucky is justly proud. The other is Taft's statue of Chief Paducah for whom the city of Paducah is named.

Progress in the nationwide change to all number calling is evidenced by the increased directory listings with seven digit numbers, C. B. Talbert, local manager, points out. The numerals "84" replace the Victor prefix in an increased number of listings.

If you can remember when the local telephone directory was about the size of the Southern Kentucky Fair catalogue and much thinner, then you will appreciate today's job for the mail the mail carriers in getting the 16,000 more than 100-page, nine by eleven inch books, to their users. Household and business deliveries will be completed as rapidly as the postmen can manage the extra loads.

New Women's Residence Hall To Be 4 Stories

11-Story Men's Dorm Is Planned At Western

An 11-story dormitory to house men students and a four-story dormitory for women students are being planned for the Western State College campus, and there is a good chance that both of them can be under construction by late summer, according to Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

Estimated cost of the new "skyscraper" building is $1,300,000. It will contain bedroom space for 410 men, apartments for director and assistant director, central elevator service, all necessary supporting auxiliary space, and will be fully air-conditioned.

Thompson said the building is being designed as a central building to the cluster of men's dormitories which have been erected in the area of 16th Street and Normal Drive. It will blend architecturally with the existing new buildings and will be landscaped in such a way as to give the entire area the appearance of a single development.

The new men's dormitory, tallest building in southern Kentucky, will be built of reinforced concrete and finished in colonial brick. Frank Cain, Bowling Green, and Ben Johnson, Owensboro, are the architects.

At the same time a four-story dormitory for women is also being planned for construction on the Kentucky Building grounds at a right angle to the six-story dormitory now under construction. Estimated cost of this building is $800,000. It will provide housing for 230 women and will be fully air-conditioned.

The new women's dormitory will extend from the Russellville Road to the six-story dormitory near the Heating Plant. It will be constructed of reinforced concrete with brick finish. Plans call for another dormitory of matching design to be erected in a similar space near the Kentucky Building at a later date.

A small sandwich shop is included in the plans for the new building and will be located on the ground floor at the northwest end.

W. S. Arrasmith, Louisville, and Joseph P. Wilk, Bowling Green, are the architects.

It is hoped that contracts for both buildings can be let this summer, and it is planned that both buildings be ready for occupancy in September, 1963.

Funds for the two projects have been encumbered by the Housing and Home Finance Agency, but final approval must be obtained from the federal agency. Thompson said all necessary supporting data and documents necessary for approval are being submitted to the federal agency.

Western Faculty, Staff Members Entertained

Seventy-six faculty and staff members from Western State College were honored last night at a dinner given by the Bowling Green Chain Store Council at Western Hills Restaurant.

Last night's dinner was the first of two planned by the council for Western faculty. The second is scheduled next Wednesday at 7 p. m.

Kelly Thompson, president of Western, represented the guests in a short speech after the dinner. Thompson praised the community for its spirit of cooperation which aids to the advancement of both the college and community.

Ivan Jett, Georgetown, state director, Kentucky Chain Store Council, also was a guest at the dinner.

Earl Barnes, manager of J. C. Penney Co., served as master of ceremonies for the dinner. Talmage Allen, president of the Bowling Green Chain Store Council and manager of the Main Street Houchen's Market, served as quizmaster for a game in which several guests were awarded silver dollars.

Western KEA Breakfast Set Friday

4-1-62

The 40th annual Western KEA Breakfast will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Brown Hotel in Louisville, beginning at 9 a. m. Friday.

The breakfast each year is the highlight of Kentucky Education Association Convention for alumni, students, faculty, and friends of Western State College.

Tickets for the breakfast, priced at $1, are now on sale at the Western business office. Tickets will be on sale at Western headquarters in Louisville, and faculty and staff members also have tickets for sale.

Dr. Kelly Thompson, College president, yesterday announced the program for the breakfast as follows: invocation by Dr. F. C. Grise, dean emeritus of the college; talk by Nick Denes, Ohio Valley Conference "football coach of the year;" talk by Mrs. Bernadine Steele, representative of the Western Alumni Association, and David N. Williams will represent the student body and sing "College Heights."

Following the song, basketball coach E. A. Diddle will speak on Western, and Thompson, who will preside at the breakfast, will make the closing remarks.

The breakfast is held each year in conjunction with the KEA convention.

Griffin Named Board Member Of Foundation

4-17-62

Announcement of the election of Houston Griffin, 1843 Nashville Road, to the board of directors of the College Heights Foundation at Western State College was made today by Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

Griffin succeeds Sam H. Allen who resigned from the board because of poor health.

The College Heights Foundation is an independent organization at the college which provides financial assistance for worthy students. It was organized in 1923 and has been in operation since that date.

The board approved the annual audit of the foundation, re-elected A. J. Thurman as executive secretary-treasurer of the foundation, and re-elected James Hall as manager of the college bookstore which is operated by the foundation.

The board inspected the new college launderette which was built by the foundation for student use and the new bookstore which opened last September.

Griffin Elected To College Heights Board

4-18-62

Houston Griffin, co-owner and general manager of the Bowling Green Laundry, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the College Heights Foundation at Western, according to an announcement Monday by Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

Griffin succeeds Sam Allen who resigned from the Board of Directors because of ill health.

The Foundation is an independent organization which provides financial assistance for the worthy students. It was organized in 1923 and has been in operation continually since that date.

Griffin's election came at the annual meeting of the Board of Directors last Thursday.

Thursday afternoon the Board inspected the new Launderette which was built near the corner of Russellville Road and Dogwood Drive by the Foundation and opened for student use last January. The new Bookstore built in the west wing of the ground floor of Cherry Hall was also inspected. The new bookstore was opened last September at the beginning of the 1961-62 school year.

The Board was served dinner in the Faculty House prior to the formal meeting. The board approved the annual audit of the Foundation. A. J. Thurman was re-elected executive - secretary-treasurer of the Foundation. James Hall was re-elected manager of the Bookstore, which is operated by the Foundation.

Gayle Shields was employed as full-time assistant to the manager of the Bookstore.

President Thompson, chairman of the Board, presided at the meeting. Directors present were Charles R. Bell, Billy S. Smith, Mrs. H. R. Matthews, Charles A. Keown, Dr. C. C. Howard, and James M. Hill. Directors absent were Robert G. Cochran, Gaston Coke, and Charles L. Taylor.

April 1962

Lectures At Western

4-19-62

Re-Evaluation Of Beliefs Is Urged By Gen. Romulo

"Whenever Soviet Russia provokes a crisis anywhere in the world, it is part and parcel of a strategy to conquer the world." This was the message brought by General Carlos P. Romulo to an audience of 5,000 at Western State College today.

Romulo was the first speaker in the Rodes-Helm Lecture Series sponsored by an endowment fund created by Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Helm, Montclair, N. J., to bring distinguished lecturers to the Western campus.

Calling for a re-evaluation of American beliefs, the former United Nations president told his audience he came "with nothing to sell—I want to make you think."

"Do you, or do you not accept the premise that your country is not imperialistic?" This question formed the basis of the first of a series of premises which the speaker told his audience could be used as a yardstick to measure the international situation.

Romulo said neither world war could have been won without the entrance of the United States in the conflicts. He noted that in its role as victor, this country has never "annexed one inch of conquered territory," unlike the Communist nations.

Despite the fact that Russia has gained control of 14 countries and 900 million people in the 16 years following World War II, the United States has not made the Soviet Union retreat from her ill-gotten gains, and still she (Russia) keeps "nibbling", Romulo told the hushed group.

"World revolution is accomplished in the minds of people," said Romulo, asking Americans to re-affirm a stand taken nearly 200 years ago by a group who pledged their "lives, fortunes, and sacred honor to advance the belief that all men are created equal."

"This is the essence of the American Way of Life," the former U.N. president said, pointing out that the free peoples of Africa, Asia, and Latin America are looking with interest on what is happening in the United States.

The general, aide-de-camp to General Douglas MacArthur during WW II, asked Americans to "step back and take a look at the world situation in its proper perspective."

"How clearly we can see (the advance of communism) now in the cold-clear light of hindsight. We did not recognize it when it was happening. I am afraid that we do not see what is happening now," said Romulo.

Telling his audience that the Russians do not "play poker but chess," the Philippine ambassador said the communists do not bluff (as in poker), but plan their moves years ahead to achieve world domination.

Americans must accept the fact that they are engaged in a life and death struggle with communism and they must take steps to assure their victory, according to Romulo.

Russia and the Communist world is doing its utmost to destroy American prestige in Africa and Asia by emphasizing incidents of racial disturbances — it is up to the citizens of this country to defeat this propaganda by showing their true selves to the people of the world.

In the Korean War, Russia was willing to fight to the last drop of Chinese blood, risking not a single Russian life, Romulo told the group of students and townspeople.

In China, Russia has a fighting force of 600 million which she can use in her conquest of other nations, Romulo said, warning Americans not to be lulled into a false sense of security by the present rift between China's Mao Tse-Tung and Russia's Khrushchev.

The Philippines diplomat said the rift is merely a difference of method, Mao wanting to use force for his conquest, while Khrushchev asks for "peaceful co-existence."

Romulo described "peaceful co-existence" as the relation between a lion and a lamb — with the lamb inside the lion.

The Rodes-Helm Lecture Series was named in honor of Warren Circuit Judge John B. Rodes and Miss Margie Helm, director of library science at Western. Rodes is the father of Mrs. Harold Helm, while Miss Helm is the sister of Helm, board chairman of Chemical Bank New York Trust Co.

Speech By Rodes Climaxes "Youth Day"

4-22-62
A 91-year-old Kentucky jurist Friday extolled the virtues of being "young at heart" to some 60 Warren County high school seniors and members of the Bowling Greens Civitan Club.

Warren Circuit Judge John B. Rodes was principal speaker at a dinner to climax "Youth Day" in Warren County. Approximately 140 persons were on hand to hear his speech dedicated to good citizenship.

The seniors from high schools in the county system had served as junior county officers for the day, learning first-hand of the problems and rewards of public service.

Judge Rodes noted that in the last century, youth was concerned with taking the West.

"Now we are taking the universe," said the jurist who each morning walks to his office and scorns the courthouse elevator for the stairs.

"We will always have a fight, but American democracy will never fail the future of mankind," said Judge Rodes.

The judge had special praise for Kelly Thompson, president of Western State College, and Dr. W. R. McNeill, superintendent of city schools, calling them the two greatest men in their field in Kentucky.

Youth Day in Warren County is sponsored each year by the Civitan Club.

Thompson Named Knight Of Derby Festival Ball

4-29-62
Kelly Thompson, president of Western State College, has a new honor to add to an already impressive list. He was named a Knight of the Derby Festival Ball Friday night at Louisville.

Thompson is one of five men in the state who were so honored in recognition of their contribution to humanity and the commonwealth. He joins a select rank of 22 Kentuckians who have been honored as knights.

Miss Jane Helm, Louisville, queen of the 1962 Kentucky Derby Festival, is a niece of Miss Margie Helm, 1133 Chestnut St.

The 19-year-old University of Kentucky freshman was crowned queen at the ball held in the Kentucky Hotel Flage Room. She is the daughter of Thomas O. Helm, Louisville, formerly of this city, and Mrs. Helm.

Miss Helm will preside over the Pegasus Parade Thursday and will be in the winner's circle, Derby Day.

Judge, 91, Advises Youths: Think Young

Courier-Journal South Kentucky Bureau

Bowling Green, Ky., April 20.—The youngest 91-year-old in Warren County told a group of outstanding high-school students Friday night they must keep their youthful outlook throughout life.

Circuit Judge John B. Rodes spoke at the dinner climaxing the annual Civitan Youth Day, in which youngsters take over City and County government for a day.

He complimented the Civitan Club and officials for cooperating in the project to teach youngsters how their government is operated.

Education Stressed

Judge Rodes said he believes "we stand upon the threshold of a mighty future" and urged the youngsters not to "lose the youthful outlook which is absolutely required in the swiftly changing American social, economic, and political conditions."

The slender, erect, bright-eyed jurist particularly stressed the importance of educating youth. And he said Bowling Green is fortunate to have great educational leaders such as Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western Kentucky State College, and Dr. W. R. McNeill, superintendent of City schools.

County Judge Basil Griffin swore in the 66 students as officials for the day. Then their real-life counterparts instructed them in their functions. The group visited businesses in the afternoon.

Guthrie Honors Mrs. Fortson, Who Has Taught For 46 Years

Courier-Journal South Kentucky Bureau

Guthrie, Ky., April 27.—After 46 years of teaching, Mrs. Nannie Laurie Fortson saw her students rebel against her Friday night.

Mrs. Fortson, who shuns the limelight, was the honored guest at a "This Is Your Life" program sponsored by the Guthrie Parent-Teacher Association.

The first-grade teacher here the past 41 years is 71 and will retire from teaching at the end of the school year. But she has no intention of taking it easy and is considering selling insurance, which she has done part time in the past.

And she knows Guthrie's first-graders still will feel some of her influence—one of her daughters, Mrs. Lucy Chastain, also teaches one section of the class. Her other daughter, Miss Dorothy Louise Fortson, operates a restaurant here.

Many former students—including the master of ceremonies, Dr. William M. Jenkins, Jr., head of the department of business and government at Western Kentucky State College—were among the several hundred persons attending the program.

Also present was Miss Rebecca Williams, one of Mrs. Fortson's three sisters, who also taught more than 40 years before retiring. A fourth sister taught several years.

Combs Sends A Message

Letters and telegrams were received from many former students, friends, and associates. Congratulatory messages came from Governor Bert Combs, Lieutenant Governor Wilson W. Wyatt, Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell Butler, and President Kelly Thompson of Western.

"You have looked for the best in others and given the best you had," Dr. Thompson said.

Mrs. Fortson, a native of Thomasville, Tenn., received her B.S. degree in 1937 and M.A. in 1948, both from Western. She began teaching with an eighth-grade education, but she continued her schooling in the summers.

She taught at the Herman School in Todd County before moving to the Guthrie School.

ROMULO AT WESTERN . . . Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines shakes hands with Warren Circuit Judge John B. Rodes, right, at Western Kentucky State College. Watching are Miss Margie Helm, left, director of library services, and Mrs. Kelly Thompson, wife of Western's president. Romulo spoke at the first of the Rodes-Helm lecture series, named in honor of Miss Helm, Judge Rodes.

Romulo Says U. S. 'No Longer Island'

Bowling Green, Ky., April 19 (AP)—"America is no longer an island unto itself," General Carlos P. Romulo, former president of the United Nations, said Thursday.

If a third world war breaks out, he told a Western Kentucky State College audience, most of the fighting likely will be on United States soil.

Romulo was the first speaker in Western's new Rodes-Helm lecture series. About 5,000 attended his talk.

The Filipino said it is this nation's responsibility to stop Russian-evoked crises anywhere in the world the Soviets start them.

"Wherever Soviet Russia provokes a crisis anywhere in the world, the United States must, in the interest of world peace, move to meet this challenge," he said.

Romulo warned that communism's advances are not easily recognized. Russians do not play poker, he said. They do not bluff. Instead, they play chess, studying their moves years in advance to plot their strategy for world conquest.

"How clearly we can see (the advance of communism) now in the cold, clear light of hindsight," Romulo said. "We did not see it then (after World War II) as I am afraid we cannot recognize it now." Calling for individuals to resist communism's advance, sacred honor" to uphold the Romulo asked those in the audience to reaffirm the beliefs stated nearly 200 years ago when men pledged "their lives, their fortunes, and their stand that all men are created equal. "This belief," he said, "is the essence of American way of life."

An Invitation from
WESTERN KENTUCKY
STATE COLLEGE

ONCE AGAIN the Western campus is touched with the magic wand of Spring. Bountiful nature gives forth an abundance of beauty unsurpassed throughout any other time of the year.

You are invited to make the Western walkways your walkways. If, on this afternoon, or at some other convenient time, you should feel like "going for a walk," remember that you are welcome on Western's campus.

Your aiding us in keeping all growing things growing, and in helping in all ways to maintain the beauty of the College, will be appreciated.

If you do not have time for a stroll, perhaps you will enjoy driving through and around the campus. We want you to know that you are always welcome. Crowded areas call for very careful driving. For your sake, and for the safety of others, please drive carefully.

The faculty and students join me in inviting you to share with us the beauty of the Western campus.

Sincerely,

KELLY THOMPSON

President

KNIGHTS OF DERBY — Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, is one of five distinguished Kentuckians who were named as a Knight of the 1962 Kentucky Derby Court. The Knights named to the court were (l to r): Fred M. McClellan, president of Kentucky Derby Festival committee; Kelly Thompson, president of Western Kentucky State College; Lyman Dawson, chairman of the United Fund and Community Chest drives in Louisville; C. V. Whitney, noted horse breeder; and Dr. Doran.

Ky. Derby Honors Pres. Thompson

Western's president Kelly Thompson added another honor to his already impressive list when he was "Knighthooded" at the Kentucky Derby Festival Coronation Ball last Friday evening in the Flag Room of the Kentucky Hotel at Louisville. He was one of five Kentuckians honored for "outstanding service to humanity and leadership in the Commonwealth."

President and Mrs. Thompson were honored guests of the Coronation Ball. Miss Jane Helm, niece of Miss Margie Helm who is Western's Director of Library Services, bestowed 'Knighthood' on this year's five new members of the select Derby Court. Miss Helm was chosen as the Derby Festival Queen Friday evening to reign over this year's Derby Festival.

The other four 'Knights' honored during the most impressive ceremony were Lyman L. Dawson, retired Louisville industrialist; Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College; C. V. Whitney, Lexington owner and breeder of thoroughbred horses, and Fred W. McClellan, president of this year's Derby Festival.

Over the past three years 17 well-known Kentuckians have been 'Knighthooded.'

Dissatisfied

3 At Western Explain Leaving

By TOM DUNCAN
Courier-Journal South Kentucky Bureau

Bowling Green, Ky., May 4.—Smoldering differences over adameic standards and the faculty's role in policy matters lie behind the resignation of three fourths of the physics faculty at Western Kentucky State College, it was learned Friday.

The three resignations in the four-member department were announced this week at a faculty meeting by President Kelly Thompson.

Dr. Thompson denied knowing the question of academic standards was a factor in the resignations.

And he declined to comment on whether the faculty is given an effective voice in shaping policy.

But Dr. Charles E. Whittle, Jr., head of the physics department, Dr. Otis K. Wolfe, Jr., and Dr. Fred Boercker raised these points when questioned about their leaving.

Dr. Boercker, who will join the American Institute of Physics in New York, said his letter of resignation pointed out his dissatisfaction with academic standards, particularly in teacher-training, at Western.

2 Moving To Centre

Dr. Whittle and Dr. Wolfe, who will join the faculty at Centre College in Danville, raised issues by citing "advantages" they expect there. Both are graduates of Centre.

In a statement Dr. Wolfe concurred in, Dr. Whittle said:

"I feel that Centre College offers the following advantages:

"The faculty there has general charges of admissions, instruction, attendance of students, the curriculum, and the athletic program.

"All policy changes there are made with the approval of the faculty, and all standing committees have a statement of their duties and procedures approved by the faculty.

"My students and associates will be allowed to offer constructive criticism and to speak freely."

Specifics Not Discussed

Dr. Whittle and Dr. Wolfe declined to discuss specific instances to the contrary at Western.

But it was learned the physics department has sought a stronger voice for Western's faculty committee on curriculum.

It also has sought more testing and evaluation of students on entering and graduating to determine the effectiveness of various programs.

And they have suggested a change in evaluating grades—to distinguish between a "D" and an "F," both of which now carry no quality points.

No Pressure On Grades

All three said there had been no pressure to give higher grades than they felt students deserved.

But all indicated a feeling that curricula need reevaluation to see that graduates actually have a comparatively liberal education.

Dr. Whittle also cited two other "advantages" at Centre:

"Scholarships, including those to athletes, are given according to financial need and academic standing.

"The policy of strongly encouraging research in all departments at Centre will, in my opinion, strengthen the undergraduate programs there."

Dr. Whittle, a member of the Western faculty six years and head of the department two years, added:

"I deeply regret leaving

Western and the fine community of Bowling Green. Western has a competent faculty, and I am happy to have been a part of it for the past six years. . . .

"As a teacher and an administrative officer in a public educational institution, I have tried to exercise appropriate restraint in my utterances on public-school policy. I have tried to exercise this restraint in making this statement and I do so without personal bitterness toward anyone."

Resigned 2 Weeks Ago

Dr. Whittle submitted his resignation about two weeks ago. He will become coordinator of research in biology, chemistry, and physics, and part-time professor of physics at Centre.

Dr. Wolfe, in his third year at Western, will be an associate professor of physics at Centre. Dr. Boercker, in his second year at Western, will be project director for a manpower survey in physics that the American Institute of Physics is making for the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Wolfe turned in his resignation several weeks ago, while Dr. Boercker submitted his last semester.

All will finish the school year here.

Dr. Thompson said he has employed one more physics professor for the coming year and is negotiating with another.

Prof. William Owens, praised by all three departing members, will remain in the department.

President Thompson declared categorically that "the academic standards at Western Kentucky State College are the highest in its 56-year history."

He said there was no ill will for those resigning and that he had wished them well in announcing resignations, routinely at the last official faculty meeting of the school year.

Commencement Set May 31

Meacham To Be Western Speaker

Dr. William F. Meacham, noted neurosurgeon at Vanderbilt Medical School, Nashville, will deliver the spring commencement address at Western State College, according to Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

The exercises scheduled for the Western Stadium at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday, May 31, will mark the 85th commencement program in Western's history.

Dr. Paul S. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian Church Louisville, will deliver the baccalaureate address for the spring graduates in Van Meter Auditorium on Sunday, May 27, at 7:30 p. m.

The baccalaureate program for the graduating class at the Western Training School will be held in conjunction with the college baccalaureate program.

Thompson will be the speaker at the Training School commencement program on Wednesday, May 30, at 7:30 p. m. in Van Meter Auditorium.

Meacham, a native of Hopkinsville, was awarded the bachelor of science degree by Western in August, 1937. He entered Vanderbilt Medical School in September 1936, following the completion of pre-medical studies at Western. The first year in medical school he completed work for the degree from Western which was formally conferred in 1937.

In 1940 he was graduated by Vanderbilt Medical School and served as an intern for a year at Vanderbilt before joining the staff as an assistant resident surgeon. In 1954 he was elevated to a full professor in neurological surgery.

In 1952-53 Meacham served as president of the Neurosurgical Society of America. He is now chairman of the Advisory Council for Neurosurgical Surgeons of the American College for Surgeons.

Stauffer was elected president of the Kentucky Association of Christian Churches last week. A native of Ohio, he is a graduate of Transylvania College and the College of the Bible.

He has served churches in St. Louis and Clinton, Mo., and was minister of First Christian Church in Frankfort for 10 years before assuming the Louisville pastorate in 1954.

May 1962

New Member Added To WSC Education Faculty

Dr. W. L. Brackett will join the department of education at Western State College on June 1, according to Kelly Thompson, president of Western.

A native of Oklahoma, Brackett comes to Western from the University of Tulsa where he has been associate professor of elementary education, director of elementary school teaching and of the summer laboratory school since 1959.

He was awarded the A.B. degree by Northeastern State College, Tahlequah, Okla., and the M.A. degree by the University of Tulsa. He was awarded the Ph.D. degree by Peabody College, Nashville, this year.

In addition to serving with the University of Tulsa, he has also served as an associate professor of education at Denver University, and Drake University, Des Moines Iowa. Prior to joining the college and university teaching ranks, he was a teacher and assistant principal in Oklahoma public schools for 17 years.

Brackett also has served in a consultant and editorial capacity in a number of school surveys in Knox County, Kentucky, Caddo Parish, Louisiana, and Davidson County, Tennessee. He has also done editorial work in the cooperative study in elementary education of the Southern Association, and has done consultant work with a number of school systems.

He is married and the father of two children.

2 To Join Biology Department At Western For Fall Semester

5-13-62

Dr. Donald W. Bailey and James F. Matthews will join the department of biology at Western State College at the beginning of the fall semester in September, according to Western president Kelly Thompson.

Bailey is a native of Virginia, but spent most of his youth in Evansville. He was awarded the B. S. degree by Vanderbilt University in 1955, the M. S. degree by Emory University in 1956, and the Ph.D. degree by the same institution in 1958.

Since receiving the Ph.D degree, Bailey has been a member of the faculty of Tift College, Forsyth, Ga. At Tift, he has served for three years as head of department of sciences, has been chairman of the committee on health and recreation, and has been a member of the curriculum committee.

He is a member of numerous professional organizations, including the American Society of Zoologist, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Institute of Biological Sciences, the Society of Sigma Xi, the American Association of University Professors, and the Association of Southeastern Biologists.

Bailey is married to the former Miss Dorothy M. Awalt of Omaha, Ill. Mrs. Bailey is a registered nurse, and was awarded the B. S. degree by Tift College. The Baileys are the parents of a two-year old daughter, Elizabeth Ann.

Matthews is a native of Winston-Salem, N. C. He was awarded the A. B. degree by Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N. C. in 1957, and the M. S. degree by Cornell University, in 1960. He is scheduled to receive the Ph.D. degree at Emory University, in June.

Matthews is married to the

former Miss Betsy Kimsey of Rome, Ga., Mrs. Matthews was awarded the A. B. degree by Shorter College, Rome, and the M. S. degree by Emory University.

MARTHA F. WATSON

JOSEPH F. STOKES

Two To Join Western Faculty In September

Miss Martha Frances Watson and Joseph F. Stokes will join the department of mathematics at Western State College in September, Western president Kelly Thompson announced today.

Miss Watson is a native of Janesville, Wis. She received her advanced education in Kentucky. She was awarded the A. B. degree by Murray State College in 1956 and the M. A. degree by the University of Kentucky in 1958. Miss Watson held a teaching fellowship at the university for five years where she is now a National Science Fellow.

She is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree which she expects to receive at the university this summer.

Stokes is a native of Arkansas. He was awarded both the B. S. degree and the M. A. degree by the University of Arkansas and has done additional work at Michigan State and Oklahoma State universities. He has had teaching experience at Kansas State University and has done work with electronic computers. Stokes will come to Western from Auburn University, Auburn, Ala. He is a member of the American Mathematical Association and Phi Mu Epsilon.

Stokes and his wife have a six-month-old daughter, Janice Rebecca.

JAMES N. WISE

MRS. TOM ECKER

GERALD R. RANDOLPH

Three To Join Western English Department Faculty In September

James N. Wise, Mrs. Tom Ecker and Gerald R. Randolph will become members of the English department faculty at Western State College in September, according to Kelly Thompson, president.

Wise is a native of West Virginia, where he received his early education. He was awarded the B.S. degree by West Virginia University in 1957, and the M.A. degree by the same institution in 1958.

During 1958-59, he was an instructor of English at Georgetown College. Since September, 1959, he has been a part-time instructor at the University of Florida, where he expects to be awarded the Ph.D. degree this summer.

Wise is married to the former Miss Hester Cheatham of Bloomfield.

Mrs. Ecker, the former Miss Judy Koch, is a native of Louisville. She was awarded the B.S. degree by Western in 1955, and the M.A. degree by the University of Iowa in 1957. While at Iowa, she held a graduate assistantship in the department of journalism, conducted research projects for The Iowa Publisher, and wrote radio copy for WSUI Radio.

Her writing experience includes a series of educational programs for the Iowa City public schools, and a series of feature articles on the Bowling Green Salvation Army. She is a former editor of the College Heights Herald.

Mrs. Ecker has been teaching English at Elizabethtown High School for the past four years, and previously taught elementary school in Iowa City.

She is the wife of Tom Ecker, who is also joining the Western staff as track coach. They have three children, Wendy, 5, Kerry, 4, and Kevin, 2.

Randolph is a native of Des Moines, Iowa, where he was awarded the A.B. degree by Drake University in 1953. Following graduation from Drake, he received a commission in the U.S. Navy and served four years in Japan as a public relations and public information officer.

Following his release from service, Randolph began graduate work at the State University of Iowa, where he was awarded the M.A. degree in 1957.

He served as a member of the faculty at Western Illinois University in Macomb, Ill., for two years. He expects to be awarded the Ph.D. degree by Florida State University this summer.

Randolph is married and has two children.

PRESTON S. MALONE

CLAUDE C. STURGILL

THOMAS F. SHEPPARD

3 New Members Named To History Department Faculty At Western

Three new members will join the department of history at Western State College at the beginning of the fall semester in September, according to Western president, Kelly Thompson.

The new members will be Preston S. Malone, Claude C. Sturgill, and Thomas F. Sheppard.

So far 10 new faculty members have been appointed to the staff of Western to assume duties next September.

Malone is a native of Greenwood, S. C., where he received his early education. He attended Peterson College of Commerce at Greenwood, and was awarded the A.B. degree by Furman University, Greenville, S.C., in 1942. He was awarded the M.Ed. degree by the University of Georgia, Athens, Ga., in 1956, and will be awarded the Ph.D. degree by the same institution this year.

Malone served as a member of the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II from 1942-45. Following his release from service he was employed as a sales engineer by the Allison Steel Manufacturing Co., Phoenix, Ariz., from 1945-47, and was employed by the J. C. Penney Co. from 1947-53.

He served as a professor of history at Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., in 1956, and served as a research assistant, teaching assistant, and instructor with the University of Georgia from 1957-62.

Malone is married to the former Norma Ribelin, and they have one daughter, Patty, 15.

Sturgill is a native of Glo, Ky., and was awarded the A.B. degree by the University of Kentucky in 1956. He served as a member of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command for two years, and has been enrolled in the graduate school at the university since 1958.

From 1958-61, he studied under a Haggin Grant for graduate studies at U.K. and was awarded the M.A. degree in 1959. In May, 1961, he was awarded a Kentucky Research Council Grant to pursue his dissertation topic for the Ph.D. degree in the Republic of France, where he is currently residing with his wife and two daughters.

His major interest has been in the reign of Louis XIV and studies of the Marechal Claude Louise Hector de Villars.

Sheppard is a native of Indianapolis, where he received his early education. He was awarded the A.B. degree by Vanderbilt University in 1957. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1957-60 and held the rank of first lieutenant.

He was awarded the M.A. degree by the University of Nebraska in 1962. While doing graduate work he served as a research assistant and an assistant professor in the department of history for five semesters.

Sheppard presently resides in Lincoln, Neb., with his wife and one child.

Succeeds Whittle At Western

Russell Is Named Physics Chief

Dr. Marvin W. Russell, senior research scientist for Kaman Nuclear of Colorado Springs, Colo., will become head of the department of physics at Western State College on June 1, according to an announcement Saturday by Kelly Thompson president of the college.

It also was announced that Edward A. Barnhardt, Helena, Ark., who has completed all course requirements for the Ph.D. degree at Vanderbilt University, will join the department staff on June 1.

Dr. Russell, who is well known in Bowling Green and throughout Kentucky, received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Florida in 1954 after having been awarded the master of science degree from the same institution in 1952. He is a native of Poole, and was an honor graduate of Western in 1950 with a major in physics.

Dr. Russell, who succeeds Dr. Charles E. Whittle, Jr., who recently resigned, will come to Bowling Green on June 12 to spend two weeks working with the dean of the college on the physics curriculum and in general planning for the department for the school year 1962-63. He will spend three weeks on the Western campus in August further developing plans for the department for the coming school year, and will assume his full-time duties as soon after September 1 as he can complete a commitment in the Colorado Springs nuclear program.

Thompson stated that during the time Dr. Russell is absent from the campus, Dr. Raymond L. Cravens, dean of the College, will serve as acting head of the department.

Dr. Russell was formerly a physicist and development engineer with the advanced development section of the General Electric Co., in Owensboro.

He has conducted research in a variety of technical areas including mass spectrometry and sorption behavior of gases, heat transfer physics, electron microscopy, electron diffraction, thermophysical properties of solids, thin film technology, high vacuum technology, and electron physics at Colorado.

Dr. Russell's college related experience includes two years on a member of the physics department research staff at the University of Florida, and four years as visiting lecturer and acting chairman of the physics division at Kentucky Wesleyan College, Owensboro.

Dr. Russell is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, American Physical Society, Institute of Radio Engineers, and the American Association of Physics Teachers. His wife is the former Nancy Pritchett, Corydon. They have four children, Mark, 9, Sayra, 8; Dwight, 5, and Kelly, 3.

Barnhardt was awarded the Master of Science degree by Vanderbilt University in 1961, after having received the Bachelor of Science degree from Southwestern College of Memphis, in 1959. While working toward the M. S. degree, Barnhardt held a special fellowship in radiological physics from the Atomis Energy Commission. During the past year he held a scholarship and teaching assistantship at Vanderbilt.

His field of professional interest is in infrared spectroscopy, and his experience includes work with the Buckman Laboratories of Memphis and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

College Heights Foundation To Buy Buildings

The College Heights Foundation of Western State College is in the process of purchasing three apartment buildings at the intersection of College and 15th streets, according to an announcement yesterday by Kelly Thompson, president of Western.

Thompson said the buildings would be purchased for later use by the college. He said one of the three buildings, of which two face College Street, will be used in September. He said the corner building will be used for small graduate classes, and will be converted into faculty offices.

Thompson said the purchase price of the three buildings will be around $55,000. Two of the structures will be rented by the foundation. The three buildings have a total of 30 apartments and are heated by a central heating system.

L. B. Powell, present owner of the buildings, and A. J. Thurman, executive secretary of the College Heights Foundation, are completing plans for the purchase.

GLEN E. LANGE

WILLIAM E. LAUX

2 Instructors To Join WSC Faculty In Fall

William E. Laux and Glen E. Lange will join the department of business and government at Western State College in September, according to Kelly Thompson, president.

Laux, a native of Nebraska, was awarded the A.B. degree by Hastings, Neb., College in 1953. During the 1953-54 academic year, he studied agriculture in Denmark under a Fulbright scholarship and was a member of the U.S. Army from 1954 to 1956.

After his release from the service, Laux began graduate study in political science at the University of Nebraska, where he was awarded the M.A. degree in 1958. He is presently a candidate for the Ph.D. degree, which he expects to receive this summer, in the field of foreign governments at the same institution.

At Western

Seminar On School Funds Set July 9-20

A seminar in administering of Kentucky public school funds will be conducted at Western State College July 9-20 and will be highlighted with a closing address by Gov. Bert P. Combs, according to Kelly Thompson, president of Western.

The seminar, first of its kind to be held at Western, will offer three hours of graduate credit to those attending the two-week session. This program grew out of the realization for the need of providing the administrators of Kentucky public school systems with information which would be of optimum service in the administering of public school funds.

Persons desiring to enroll for the course should contact Dr. Tate C. Page, head of the department of education at Western, no later than July 6. Those desiring credit will be assessed a fee of $6 per semester hour. The fee for auditing the course is also $6 per semester hour. While no credit is issued for auditing, a verification that a person has audited the course will be placed on record in the office of the registrar.

Should an interested person desire to attend a limited number of sessions, no assessment fee is required.

Western's department of education working jointly with the Kentucky State Department of Education, and the Kentucky School Business Association, will present the study unit on the most recent developments in school fund handling.

Joseph W. Morris, professor of education at Western, will preside at all sessions of the seminar.

Principal speaker for the conference will be Dr. John E. Phay, assistant provost, director of educational research and professor of school finance at the University of Kentucky. Dr. John E. Phay, will give the opening lecture of the seminar on "Present and Future School Revenue Sources."

Phay holds degrees from Maryville, Tenn.; University of Pennsylvania, and Teachers College, Columbia University. He has taught at Lake Placid, Fla., served as supervising principal there; was associate instructor of field studies at the Teachers College at Columbia University; was in charge of research, New Jersey State Department of Education and was visiting professor at the University of North Carolina for three summers. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, and has edited a number of various educational surveys.

Other speakers scheduled for lectures include Wendell Butler, superintendent of public school instruction, State Department of Education, and his assistant, Sam Alexander.

Meeting site for all sessions will be Kelly Thompson Science Hall, Room 224.

A picnic and fish-fry on the college campus will conclude seminar activities.

He received a graduate assistantship in the department of physics at Southern Illinois University. While there he made special investigations as to the place of mathematics and science in the general education program.

Hall comes to Western from Belleville, Ill., Junior College where he has been an instructor in physics and mathematics since 1959.

MISS ALBA MARIE BROACH

MRS. RUTH FULLER

MRS. AUDREY R. JACKSON

Western Names Three Additional Teachers

Appointment of three more members to bring the number of new faculty for Western State College to 40 was announced Saturday by Kelly Thompson, president.

The new members will begin their duties at the opening of the fall semester Sept. 10.

New faculty members are Mrs. Audrey Russell Jackson, Mrs. Ruth Fuller and Miss Alba Marie Broach.

Mrs. Jackson will join the Department of Economics and Sociology. She was awarded the A.B. degree by Western in June of this year when she was graduated with honors. She will receive the M.A. degree from Western in August. Part of her undergraduate work was done at University of Oklahoma.

This past year Mrs. Jackson held a graduate assistantship in the Department of Economics and Sociology.

She has served as a personnel analyst with the U.S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., and was employed as promotional and continuity director for radio station WKCT.

Mrs. Jackson and her husband, with their 10-year-old son, John Mack, Jr., reside on Old Scottsville Road.

Mrs. Ruth Fuller will join the department of education faculty. A native of Butler County, Mrs. Fuller was awarded the B.S. degree by Western in 1956, the M.A. degree in 1958, and has completed the 24 hours of graduate study offered by Western beyond the M. A. degree.

Since 1957 Mrs. Fuller has served as area guidance counselor with the State Department of Education. Last January she joined the Western staff on a temporary basis in the education department.

Mrs. Fuller and her husband, the Rev. George T. Fuller, reside at Morgantown.

Miss Alba Marie Broach will join the Training School staff where she will teach in the areas of junior high English, speech, debate and dramatics. She comes to Western from the Butler County school system, Hamilton, Ohio, where she taught high school English for the past two years.

Miss Broach is a native of Decatur, Georgia. She was awarded the B. S. degree by the University of Tennessee in 1960. Her first two years of college were completed at Virginia Interment Junior College. She has done graduate work toward the M. A. degree at Emory University.

Two Associate Deans Named

6/29/62

Western Regents Approve Record $3.9 Million Budget

Western State College board of regents today approved the largest budget in the history of the college and promoted two members of the faculty to associate deans.

Continued progress and expansion in all areas of the college were given impetus by other actions of the board.

The budget approved for the 1962-63 fiscal year totals $3,999,818. The college will begin operating under the budget on July 1.

Dr. John D. Minton, who has been a faculty member of the department of history since 1959, was promoted to the position of associate dean of graduate instruction.

Dr. William R. Hourigan, who has been a faculty member of the department of agriculture since 1960, was promoted to associate dean of undergraduate instruction.

The teaching assignments of both the new associate deans will be reduced in order to assume the new duties.

A native of Trigg County, Minton was awarded the Ph. D. degree in history by Vanderbilt University in 1959. He was awarded the M. A. degree by the University of Kentucky in 1947 and the A. B. degree by the same institution in 1946.

Minton held a graduate assistantship at the University of Kentucky in 1946-47 and was a teaching fellow at Vanderbilt from

DR. J. D. MINTON

1947 until 1950. From 1951 until 1953 he was a member of the Broward County public school system, and Adult Education Program, University of Miami, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

He served as principal of the Trigg County high school from 1953 until he joined the Western faculty.

Minton and his wife, the former Betty Jo Redick of Trigg County, reside at 102 Bellevue Drive with their two sons.

Hourigan is a native of Lebanon. He was awarded the Ph. D. degree by Ohio State University in 1960. He was awarded the M. S. degree by the University of Kentucky in 1956 and the B. S. degree by the same institution in 1952.

He served as assistant county agent in Calloway County and in Washington County following graduation from Kentucky in 1952. He was with the U. S. Army from 1953 until 1955 when he entered graduate school.

He and his wife, the former Marlene Swann, Murray, reside at 502 Belmont Drive.

Thirty-six faculty members who are new appointees in an expansion of the faculty to take care of the increase in enrollment were approved by the board.

A plan for changing the salary structure for the teaching faculty was presented by president Kelly Thompson. The plan, entitled, "Salary Conversion Plan, will not apply to department heads, administrative staff, and the Training School faculty.

The salary will be paid in 12 installments, effective Sept. 1, for the academic year, exclusive of the summer school session.

Western

A faculty member will be additionally compensated for teaching the summer session. Those who do not teach in the summer will have the opportunity to do further graduate study, travel, or rest. Thompson stated that under this plan many of the faculty members can continue work toward the doctorate degree during the summer without financial hardship.

Thompson stated that lengthy study had been given to the plan and it was the overwhelming consensus of the faculty that such a step would be one of the most far-reaching in the history of the college relative to faculty financial remuneration.

The plan will be financed from the current budget which was approved today. It will be put into effect for a one-year trial and if successful, will become an institutional policy.

The board accepted a report on the National Science Foundation sponsored summer training program for high school students which is being held on the campus this summer for the fourth consecutive year. A grant in the amount of $22,270, was received from the foundation to finance the program. The grant marked the fifteenth the college has received in the past four years and brings to a total $484,700 in funds the college has received from the NSF.

Progress reports on the new six-story dormitory for women, which will be ready for occupancy in September; the Academic-Athletic Building now under construction; the proposed 10-story dormitory for men; the proposed four-story dormitory for women; bid openings for new utilities installation and the cooperative Western-Bowling Green Board of Education elementary school were presented to the board by Thompson.

A report on the College Heights Foundation was also presented by Thompson.

H. Bernis Lawrence, Louisville attorney, was sworn in as a member of the board for his third term. Douglas Keen, county attorney of Allen County, was sworn in for his second term. Both were recently re-appointed by Gov. Bert T. Combs.

In other business the board approved a minor in the field of military science and a plan for a special studies curriculum.

Attending the meeting today in addition to Lawrence and Keen, were state superintendent of public instruction Wendell P. Butler, chairman ex-officio; Hugh Poland, Guthrie; Dr. Gerald Edds Calhoun; and Maxey Harlin Bowling Green. Owen Hammon Louisville, was absent.

HANDS OFF is the policy for this new bottling machine at the Coca-Cola Bottling Works of Bowling Green. He has been employed as business adviser to Portuguese import-export firm (Publio de Vasconcellos Sons), Maderia and Lisbon.

Wenner returned to the United States in 1960. Since that time he has been a resident of Palm Springs, Calif.

Dawson comes to Western from Kentucky Wesleyan College, Owensboro, where he has been head of the department of physics and mathematics.

The new member of the physics department was awarded the B. S. degree by Western in 1950 and the M.A. degree in 1952. From 1950 until 1955 he taught in the Sumner County, Tennessee school system. From 1955 to 1958 he served as principal of the Portland, Tenn., elementary school and the White House, Tenn., High School.

In 1958 Dawson joined the faculty at Kentucky Wesleyan as assistant professor of physics. He was elevated to head of the department and made associate professor of physics and mathematics in 1961.

A native of Simpson County, Dawson served with the U.S. Army's 100th Division in France and Germany during World War II as an infantryman.

Dawson is married to the former Ann Suell, Mitchellville, Tenn. They have two sons, Robert S., 13, and James T., 8.

The Dawsons will move to Bowling Green from Owensboro in August.

PORTRAIT of John Simpson, for whom Simpson County was named, was presented to Simpson Judge R. E. Wear, left, during dedication ceremonies for the new addition to Simpson County Courthouse yesterday. The portrait was painted by Mrs. Edna Milliken, second from right. Other persons are Kelly Thompson, president of Western State College, and Miss Frances Richards, faculty member at Western and native of Franklin, both of whom spoke during the dedication of the $60,000 addition.

Courthouse Addition Is Dedicated

FRANKLIN, Ky. (Spl.) — Western State College President Kelly Thompson yesterday dedicated the new $60,000 addition to Simpson County Courthouse to "liberty and justice for all our people."

Thompson, who was the principal speaker for dedication ceremonies, said the phrase, "liberty and justice for all" includes the key words of our pledge allegiance to the flag.

During yesterday's dedication of the two new wings and remodeled main building, Miss Frances Richards, member of the English Department at Western and a resident of Franklin, presented County Judge R. E. Wear with an oil painting of Capt. John Simpson, for whom Simpson County was named.

The painting was done by Mrs. Edna Milliken, chairman of yesterday's ceremonies.

Mrs. Milliken gave a brief history of Simpson County, and County Clerk J. U. (Bud) Grow compared the amount of space needed for court records now with the amount needed in 1882 when the present building was built.

Grow said one book was used every two years for recording deeds and one every two years for recording mortgages in 1882, but in 1961, three books were used for the recording of each.

Cars Out For Freshmen At Western

Effective with the beginning of the fall term, a student motor vehicle policy will prohibit the possession and operation of any type of automobile by freshmen on the campus at Western State College, Kelly Thompson, president, said Saturday.

This policy was adopted by Western along with the University of Kentucky, Murray State College and Eastern when the Council on Public Higher Education at Frankfort issued the decree on July 9.

The same policy will affect sophomores in 1963. At that time all students registered as sophomores who have an overall academic standing of "B" or above may be granted the privilege of operating motor vehicles at any of the above named schools.

All students on academic probation, regardless of their classification, are forbidden possession and operation of motor vehicles at the college, the College president said.

Exceptions to these regulations may be granted only with special permission of the dean of students in order to avoid hardship based on physical handicap, necessary commuting to classes, use for essential work and other proven need. No student may operate a motor vehicle at Western until he has registered it and has it insured against public liability, Thompson said.

Penalties for parking and other traffic violations will result in fines up to $5. Parking by students is forbidden in all faculty parking areas between the hours of 7:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. weekdays and before noon on Saturdays.

Three Named To Western Faculty

MRS. FLOYD MCKIBBIN

ROY D. HEDGES
7/12/62

MRS. MARGARET WENNER

Three additional faculty members have been named to the staff at Western State College for the fall semester opening in September, according to Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

The three appointments make a total of 48 new staff members who will join the faculty in September.

The three new members are Mrs. Margaret Kingsley Wenner, Mrs. Floyd F. McKibbin and Roy D. Hedges.

Mrs. Wenner will join the department of foreign languages where she will teach Spanish. She was awarded the A.B. degree by Elmira College and has done post graduate work at Cornell University and McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

She has taught at Cleveland College and at Western Reserve University, served with the Information Division of the Pan American Union and has been a director of the women's activities committee of the community War Fund in Washington, D.C. She has also served as a psychological analyst with the U.S. Strategic Bombing Survey in London, England, and Bad Nauheim, Germany, and was chief of the UNRRA Bureau in the Search for Missing Persons via Press and Radio in Germany.

The new member of the foreign languages department has traveled extensively in Europe and Central and South America with her husband, Thomas John B. Wenner, who is joining the Western faculty as a member of the department of business and government in September.

The Wengers will move to Bowling Green in August. They will reside at 1580 Normal Drive.

Mrs. McKibbin will be a non-department instructor and will divide her teaching duties.

She was awarded the B.S. degree by Western in 1957. She has completed 15 hours of graduate work beyond the M.A. degree at Western.

Mrs. McKibbin was a member of the department of psychology at Western from 1958 until 1961 when she resigned to join her husband who was stationed with the U.S. Army in Massachusetts.

An experienced guidance counselor, Mrs. McKibbin held that position in the Warren County School system in 1957-58. From 1948 until 1955 she was a Girl Scout executive at Gregory, S.D. She held positions as a commercial teacher at Gregory, 1939-41;

Souix Falls, S.D., 1947-48; and in the Warren County Schools from 1955 until 1957.

The McKibbens reside at 1538 State St.

Roy D. Hedges will join the department of economics and sociology. He has served as part-time instructor of sociology in the department for the past two years.

Hedges was awarded the A.B. degree by Colorado State College, Greeley, Colo., in 1958. He will be awarded the M.A. degree by Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., next month.

Hedges served as night editor of the Greeley Daily Tribune from 1957 until 1959. He worked with the Omaha, Nebr., World-Herald as make-up and copy editor in 1959-60.

He served in the Korean Conflict in 1952-54 with the A.S. Army's 45 Division.

Hedges and his wife, the former Miss Lily Beth Durbin, reside at 120 Creson Drive.

Absent when the picture was taken were William Birdwell, Ernest Broady, and Douglas Lipton, all teaching in the department of Education. Laman, Brackett, Hall, and Barnhardt joined the staff on a permanent basis at the opening of the summer term on June 10 and will continue when the fall semester opens in September.

Meade County Superintendent Elected

Combs Addresses Superintendents' Meeting

It is the direct responsibility of superintendents of Kentucky's schools to work for solution to the state's educational problem, Gov. Bert T. Combs told approximately 250 educators attending the 28th annual Summer Conference of Superintendents at Western State College.

"The average Kentuckian has relied too much and too long on the idea of tradition and hospitality," the governor said.

He reviewed the gains Kentucky has made within the past two years in the field of education and cited the regression that might result if the tax structure is altered.

Combs told the group that without teachers there would never have been any doctors, lawyers and dentists. He reminded superintendents that it was up to them to convince the public that the teaching profession belongs on the same level as the professions they have made possible for many in higher paid fields.

"It will take self determination and self evaluation for teaching to attain its place on the high professional level," the governor emphasized.

"School administrators should not become involved with political personalities," Combs warned.

"They should, however, stand up for political programs which they know are good and which will in any way help school children."

The governor pointed out that there has been an increase of 19 per cent in enrollment in Kentucky's schools in the past 10 years. Citing this and other strides made by the state in industry, highway construction and recreational facilities, Combs urged educators to point out with pride the state's advances to their students and friends.

James R. Allen, Brandenburg, superintendent of Meade county schools, was elected president of the Summer Conference for Superintendents. He succeeds Kenneth Estes, superintendent of Owensboro city schools.

Robert G. Cochran, public relations director for Western, is executive secretary for the conference.

The conference was one of three educational features of the college's summer school program.

A two-week seminar in "Administering of Kentucky Public School Funds" was directed by Western's department of education.

An "Educational Equipment and Materials Workshop" was directed by Fithian Faries, also a professor in the education department.

The three programs were well attended and termed "highly successful" by school authorities.

DR. ROBERT OBOJSKI

MRS. BERTHA P. JONES

WALTER S. JACOBI

Three Named To Western Faculty

Dr. Robert Obojski, Mrs. Bertha Pate Jones and Walter S. Jacobi will become members of the faculty at Western Kentucky State College in September, according to Kelly Thompson, president of Western. This brings to 51, the number of new faculty members employed for the fall semester.

Obojski, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, will join the faculty as an instructor in the English Department.

He was awarded the A. B., A. M. and the Ph. D. degrees by Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio. He taught in the Cleveland public schools while doing his graduate work and has taught and headed the English Department at Detroit Institute of Technology.

He left Detroit Tech to pursue a career as a writer and during the past two years has written a number of articles on travel, education and numismatics for publications such as The Cleveland Plain Dealer, Cleveland Press, Detroit Free Press, Coins Magazine, Numismatic News and others. Currently he is the regular numismatic and philatelic writer for Christian Science Monitor.

Mrs. Jones will become a member of the home economics department at Western. She is a native of New Bern, N. C.

Mrs. Jones did her graduate work at the University of Maryland, where she received her M. A. degree. She was awarded her B. S. degree in home economics from East Carolina College, Greenville, N. C.

She taught in the public schools of North Carolina for three years as a vocational home economics instructor, and taught for five years in the same department at Columbia College, Columbia, S. C. prior to becoming head of the home economics department there for three years.

Jacobi, who will become a member of the department of foreign languages, was born in Mannheim, Germany, and attended the Lessing Gymnasium there. He came to the United States in 1946 and went to school in Louisville, and later in Birmingham, Ala.

Jacobi has taught German and Spanish at Indiana University's Jeffersonville Center, Howard College, Birmingham, Belmont College, Nashville, Fisk University, Nashville, and Union University, Jackson, Tenn.

He has recently been engaged in graduate studies in the field of Germanic languages at Vanderbilt University.

JANICE McATEE

POLLY W. BOAZ

JOY TERHUNE

3 To Join Western Library Staff

Three new faculty members will join the library staff at Western College on Sept. 1, according to Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

The announcement makes a total of 43 new appointments to the library staff for the fall semester which opens on Sept. 10.

The new library staff members are Miss Janice McAtee, Mrs. Polly Warren Boaz, and Mrs. Joy Terhune.

Miss McAtee was awarded the M. A. degree by Western in June of this year when she was graduated with honor. A native of Cadiz, Ky., while a student at Western, Miss McAtee served on the Student Advisory Council and was a member of the Talisman staff.

She was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and was selected as the outstanding commercial education major in the 1962 spring graduating class.

Mrs. Polly Warren Boaz was awarded the M. A. degree by Peabody College in 1961, majoring in library science. She was graduated by Western in 1952 with the B. S. degree.

A native of Russellville, Ky., Mrs. Boaz has served as assistant medical librarian at the University of Missouri; librarian at the Antioch, Ill., High School; librarian in the Jefferson County school system; and worked in the library at Texas A & M College and the Extension Division of the University of Texas. She is now serving as a half-time cataloger in the Western library.

She is the wife of Holland E. Boaz, who joined the Industrial Arts department faculty in January of this year. They reside at 1338 College St. with their three children, Gene, 9; Zona, 6; and Richard, 2.

Mrs. Joy Terhune was awarded the B. A. degree and the M. A. degree by Murray State College. She taught business at Trigg County High School for two years and for the past six years has served as librarian at South Marshall High School.

This summer Mrs. Terhune is supervising the College High library in the absence of Mrs. Molly Holland, who is attending graduate school at Peabody College, Nashville.

Mrs. Terhune is the wife of Dan Terhune, administrative manager of the Bowling Green offices of the State Highway Department. They reside at 712 Sherwood Drive with their two sons, David and Paul.

TV AND SMOKES—Capt. Robert Pemberton Jr., right, commander of Headquarters Company, 3rd Medium Tank Battalion, received from Mayor R. D. Graham a portable television set for the company's day room at Fort Knox, with approval of Lt. Col. Nelson A. Meredith, battalion commander and Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western Kentucky State College. Presentation ceremonies followed a farewell formation in Sears Roebuck and Company parking lot adjacent to the Armory at 1:30 p.m. yesterday during which the troops were reviewed by Meredith, Graham and Thompson. The television was purchased with funds raised by the mayor. Each guard member was presented a cartoon of cigarettes, by the Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp. The guard received praise from Graham and Thompson for its excellent spirit and appearance.

Restrictions Put On Cars At Colleges

7/10/62

Student Rules Laid Down; Council Also Backs 4-Year Role For Kentucky State

By ALLAN M. TROUT
Courier-Journal Bureau

Frankfort, Ky., July 9.—The Council on Public Higher Education Monday restricted student use of automobiles at all Kentucky colleges and the University of Kentucky.

It also adopted a recommendation that Kentucky State College here be continued as a four-year institution in liberal arts. It said the college should be expanded to serve community needs of the capital and surrounding counties.

Concerning automobiles, the Council ruled that freshmen cannot operate them at the University of Kentucky or any of the five State colleges beginning September 1. In addition it ruled that sophomores with less than a B average cannot operate them beginning September 1, 1963.

Must Register Cars

The restriction on campus automobiles is an old regulation at U. K. In extending it to the five colleges, the council made one set of rules applicable to all six institutions.

Henceforth, sophomores with academic average of B or better, and juniors and seniors must:

1. Register vehicles with the college.
2. Present a valid driver's license.
3. Show public-liability and property-damage insurance in not less than the minimum recommended by the Department of Insurance. Usually, this is $10,000 for one person, and $20,000 for one accident.
4. If younger than 21, file a written consent of parents or guardian.

Exceptions Provided

No student under probation for academic or disciplinary reasons will be allowed to drive on the campus. The new rules give each institution authority to grant exceptions in hardship cases.

The K.S.C. recommendations adopted by the council were contained in the report of three consultants as to the future of the Frankfort senior college which was formerly a Negro college.

The council referred the report to the board of regents of K.S.C., with the suggestion it implement the expansion as rapidly as possible.

While K.S.C. is integrated under the law, and a few white students attend, its primary service has been to Negroes.

Future Under Scrutiny

The future of the 75-year-old institution has been under scrutiny for some time, in view of the fact that white public institutions of Kentucky accept qualified Negro students without question.

Among other uses that had been suggested for K.S.C. were:

1. That it be converted into a State center for the mentally retarded.
2. That it be dropped to a two-year junior college, administered by the University of Kentucky.

The consultants termed both alternatives as unthinkable. They reasoned along this line:

Integration has begun at K.S.C., and it will continue until the process is complete in both faculty and student body.

Hires Dr. Hartford

But it will take a long time. Meanwhile, K.S.C. and the State are morally obliged to meet the special needs of Negroes graduating from segregated high schools.

In other action, the council employed Dr. Ellis F. Hartford, of U. K., as executive secretary to succeed Ted C. Gilbert who, after two years, is resigning July 1 to become business manager of Louisville City schools.

Dr. Hartford joined the U. K. faculty in 1942 as director of University School. For his new position he will take leave of absence as director of the division of foundation education.

Dr. Hartford is a native of Ohio County, was educated at U. K. and Harvard University, and is a writer in the field of education. The council did not set his salary pending an upgrading of schedules now under way, but the salary of Gilbert has been $11,976 a year.

To make the study of K.S.C. the council commissioned:

Dr. M. M. Chambers, executive director of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents.

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, head of the Maryland State Department of Education.

Survey Cost $2,014

Dr. Broadus E. Sawyer, on leave as associate professor of economics at Morgan State College, Baltimore, and now assistant director of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents.

The trio's on-the-spot phase of the study covered May 25 through June 1. It included a one-day public hearing. Total cost of the survey was $2,014.

They made these recommendations, with comment in support of each:

1. "K.S.C. should be continued as a State-supported four-year degree-granting college of liberal arts, with other specified programs open to qualified persons irrespective of race, religion, or sex."

Cite Valuable Plant

Comment—"With a physical plant well adapted for college use, worth $5,500,000 and having a replacement value much greater, and in view of the oncoming increased need for higher-education facilities throughout the state, it would be a great error to consider closing the college or transferring its facilities to some other agency. . . ."

2. "K.S.C. should immediately be enabled and encouraged to serve the recent high-school graduates of Frankfort, Franklin County, and adjacent counties, by providing two-year community - junior - college courses suitable to the demand, as it develops from year to year."

'Has Excellent Opportunity'

Comment—"Two thirds of the high-school graduates in this area do not go on with any schooling beyond high school. Besides, there are hundreds of State employees in and around Frankfort who have no formal education beyond high school. To serve such of these persons as are ambitious to earn a college degree, but unable to progress toward it because the facilities are not locally available, K.S.C. has an excellent opportunity. . . .

"The provision of additional junior-college studies is not to be feared as a dilution of the quality of the college program. Instead, it is a separate and added opportunity for service to the state and community. . . ."

'Situation Changing'

3. "K.S.C. should accomplish a gradual expansion of its service to the state and community; should accomplish gradual progress in racial integration of faculty and students. . . . It follows that, during this all-important transition period, State support for the college should be generously increased."

Comment—"A powerful reason . . . for gradual growth of K.S.C., and gradual progress in its racial integration, is that as yet many Negro high-school graduates of segregated schools . . . would actually be denied opportunity for high education if there were no traditionally Negro colleges available to them. This situation is changing, and will change, but gradually."

Suggests Added Space

4. "K.S.C. should immediately be enabled and encouraged to strengthen and enlarge its instruction in political science, public administration, and business administration, and to enroll employees of State government in evening and Saturday classes."

Comment—"It is probable that in the early stages of development, the classes could and should be held in conference rooms or other appropriate space in the Capitol or Capitol Annex or State Office Building, since the classes at senior-college level would not be large at first."

5. "K.S.C. should continue as one of the six senior State institutions of higher education, governed by its own board of regents."

'Should Not Be Branch'

Comment—"The college should not be made a branch of U. K., or of any other institution. Evidence available . . . indicates that U. K. does not wish to make this college a branch. . . . It can be governed far more efficiently by a board of regents concerned wholly with its proper development in service of state and community. . . ."

6. "K.S.C. should not be decapitated to become a two-year community junior college."

Comment—" . . . the best possible solution appears to be the offering of junior-college courses, as an additional field of service, and not as a watering down of the main program of the college, both in day courses and in evening and Saturday classes, some on-campus and some downtown, according to the demand as it develops."

Called 'Full And Objective'

On the whole, the council adopted the report without discussion. Asked for his reaction to it, Dr. Rufus B. Atwood, president of K.S.C., declared: "It is a full and objective study by gentlemen well qualified to make it."

Clifford E. Smith, Frankfort, a member of the council, observed that, in his opinion, K.S.C. could render its best community service in the area of trade and vocational education. Nor would financing be a problem, he added, because both the State and the nation offer substantial aid.

The council agreed and, in submitting the report to the K.S.C. regents, suggested the latter give priority to the possibility of trade and vocational courses in whatever community program is evolved.

Mrs. Rita Jagers Strange, Cub Run, received the R. C. P. Thomas Award for having achieved the highest academic standing in the class for four year's work at Western.

The award was made by Jo T. Orendorf, Bowling Green attorney and member of the Ogden Board of Trustees. Mrs. Strange achieved an academic standing of 2.84. She is a home economics major and plans to teach.

The Thomas Award is named in honor of R. C. P. Thomas, a former Regent of Ogden College and a principal contributor to the Ogden Foundation.

Dr. Raymond L. Cravens, dean of the college, presented the class for graduation. Dean of admission Dero G. Downing announced the candidates as Thompson formally conferred the degrees.

Of the 344 graduates, 141 were awarded the Master of Arts degree, 162 the Bachelor of Science degree, 39 the Bachelor of Arts degree, and two the Bachelor of Music degree.

Including the 344 summer graduates, Western graduated 721 students this year. This marks the greatest number ever graduated in one year in the history of the college.

You've Only Taken First Step, 344 Western Graduates Told

8-4-62

Special to The Courier-Journal
Bowling Green, Ky., Aug. 3 —Dr. Felix Robb told the 344 members of the summer graduating class at Western Kentucky State College Friday night that they had completed only the first step in becoming a teacher.

The commencement speaker noted that 97 percent of the graduates were qualified to teach.

Dr. Robb, president of George Peabody College, Nashville, addressed the largest summer graduating class in Western's history. Some 2,000 persons gathered in the Western stadium for the 86th commencement exercises in Western's 56-year history.

Changes Foreseen

"The teaching profession will undergo drastic changes in the next 10 years, and anyone in the teaching profession must be prepared to continue his education—on the job and on the college campus. What is true of teaching is becoming true of every other profession," Dr. Robb said. The nationally known educator told the graduates that the greatest change on the college scene in the next few years will be the great contingent of adults returning to college.

He said the graduates would find themselves returning to college campuses for shorter or longer periods of refresher courses, retraining institutes, and continuing education throughout their active careers.

Dr. Kelly Thompson, Western president, presided at the exercises and awarded degrees to the graduates. Thomas Award Given

Mrs. Rita Jagers Strange, Cub Run, received the R.C.P. Thomas Award for having achieved the highest academic standing in the class.

The award was made by J. T. Orendorf, Bowling Green attorney and member of the Ogden College Board of Trustees. Mrs. Strange achieved an academic standing of 2.84 of a possible 3.0 for her four years' work. She is a home-economics major and plans to teach.

The Thomas award is named in honor of R.C.P. Thomas, a former regent of Ogden College and the principal contributor to the Ogden Foundation. Ogden is now a part of Western.

The other honor graduates were Vera Miller Justice, Marilyn Ashby Monin, and Barbara Magan Price, all of Bowling Green; Joanne Lawson and Nadine Lawson, Summer Shade; Virginia Fisher Carnahan, Lebanon; Eive Janelle Conkin, Tompkinsville; James Marion Cook, Franklin; Bettie J. Peebles Dennison, Vine Grove; Cereta Bee Hankins, Paducah; Zona Hamilton Hogan, Fairbanks, Alaska; Helen Patterson Hubbard, Hodgenville; Joan Collins Jackson, McBean, Ga.; Geraldine D. Napier, Adolphus; Mrs. Gwen Owen, Hardinsburg; Elaine Davis Poe, Dawson Springs; Bobbie Gail King Pullen, Leitchfield, and Shirley Ruckel, Eubank.

Dr. Raymond L. Cravens, dean of Western, presented the class for graduation. Dean of Admissions Dero G. Downing announced the candidates as President Thompson formally conferred the degrees.

Of the 344 graduates, 141 were awarded the master-of-arts degree, 162 the bachelor-of-science degree, 39 the bachelor-of-arts degree, and two the bachelor-of-music degree.

Including the 344 summer graduates, Western graduated a record 721 students this year. A total of 377 students were awarded degrees at spring graduation.

State College Fee Boost Is Approved

By BILL NEIKIRK

FRANKFORT (AP) — The Council on Public Higher Education approved a $10 increase in tuition fees for all state colleges today, despite a protest from University of Kentucky President Frank Dickey.

The increases called for tuition fees to be boosted to $75 a semester at Eastern, Murray, Morehead and Western Kentucky State Colleges. The new fees at the University of Kentucky will be $81.75.

The increases will be effective Sept. 1, 1963.

Dickey had complained the increases "put in jeopardy one of the basic concepts of public higher education. He said the 'low tuition principle has been one of the unique features of higher education."

Three state college presidents, Dr. Adron Doran of Morehead, Robert Martin of Eastern, and Kelly Thompson of Western, agreed with Dickey's statement, but said the registration fee increase was necessary to carry on their programs for next year.

The council took no action on a proposal to approve special fees at each of the colleges. It left it to the discretion of the individual boards of trustees.

The increase is per semester. It also applies to non-resident and summer school fees.

Non-resident students will pay $150 in registration fees at the five state colleges per semester and $231.75 at the University of Kentucky.

Summer school students will be charged $37.50 at state colleges and $45 at the university. For non-resident students, fees will be $75 at state colleges and $115 at the university during the summer.

Special fees, which are not included in the registration fees, are $19 at Eastern, $8 at Kentucky State, $18.25 at Morehead, $13.75 at Murray, $28.25 at the university, and $12 at Western.

State College

The proposed increases, Dickey said, could lead higher education in Kentucky to a point where "the legislature will have ample reason to say, 'don't bother giving the colleges and university a fair budget, they can always increase the tuition again.'"

Dickey noted that the proposed increases are necessary and said he did not issue his warning in an effort to block them.

"That we (higher education) need more money is becoming more and more evident every day," Dickey said. However, he said he would vote against the tuition increase.

The only two sources of income for higher education, Dickey said, are tuition fees and legislative appropriations. He noted that the General Assembly is besieged for funds from a number of agencies, and added:

"But I would call as forcibly to your attention as I can possibly do so the fact that this tendency (raising tuitions) puts in jeopardy one of the basic concepts of public higher education — namely, the low - tuition principle."

Dickey said the tuition increase proposal was made "by a budget official in the Department of Finance last fall when the budgets of the institutions were being pared and shaved."

He said the low-tuition principle has been "a signal success, both quantitatively and qualitatively" in increasing the nation's supply of scholars and specialists.

"It is envied and copied all over the world," Dickey added.

"But we still have in our colleges only half of those young people of college age who are capable of college work," he said.

If the others are to be given the chance to attend college, Dickey said, "the only proven device on the horizon that has proven successful in promoting higher education on a wide base is the low-tuition device."

Dickey said he would vote against the increased tuition "and in so doing I hope that we shall no longer pass the burdens of supporting education to the students, but that we shall ask society to pay for that which benefits all so directly and effectively."

MRS. JAMES GOODMAN

MRS. RALPH HOLMAN

MRS. VIRGINIA DAVIS

Western Names Four Staff Members

Four more staff members have been appointed at Western State College, according to Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

Today's additions make a total of 55 new faculty and staff members who will join Western at the opening of the fall semester on Sept. 10.

Mrs. James M. Goodman will join the department of biology faculty, and Mrs. Ralph M. Holman will join the Training School faculty.

B.A. degree by the Bowling Green Business University in 1949 and the M.A. degree by Western in 1956. She returns to the Training School as a commercial teacher, after having served in that position from 1949 until 1956.

Mrs. Holman and her husband reside at 266 Bellevue Drive. They have one son, Joe, 4.

Mrs. Davis comes to Western from Cave City. A native of Barren County, she will serve as the director of McLean Hall. She is a graduate of Cave City high school and attended Centre College. She is a widow and has one daughter and four grandchildren. Miss Head is a native of Lewisburg. She was awarded the B.S. degree with a major in commercial education by Western in June of this year. She was an honor graduate.

Miss Head served as a part-time secretary in the business and government department this year. Prior to coming to Western she had served as a secretary in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in Washington, D.C. in 1955-56, and in the Welfare and Retirement Fund of the United Mine Workers in Washington from 1956 until 1959.

MISS CAROLYN HEAD

11-Story Dorm

May Award Contract Today

Contract for Western Kentucky State College's 11-story men's dormitory was expected to be awarded late today to the Robert C. Crouch Company, Memphis, apparent low bidder with a total construction bid of $1,197,700.

The bid was $33,000 under the next lowest of the 10 other bids and more than $50,000 under the architect's estimate.

The college was represented at the bid opening at Frankfort yesterday afternoon by business manager Billy Smith and physical plant administrator L. T. Smith. Western's president, Kelly Thompson, unable to attend because of being hospitalized for a physical check-up, said he was well pleased that the bids came within the budget limits. He said he hoped that the contract could be completed today as specifications call for work to start in 10 days after the awarding of the contract.

The Western representatives and state Finance Department officials were working today at Frankfort toward that end.

Second lowest bid submitted by the Struck Construction Company, Louisville, was $1,230,966. Clark Construction Co., Owensboro, which is constructing the academic-athletic arena on the college campus, submitted the third lowest bid of $1,257,000.

The 11 bids ranged from the apparent low of $1,197,700 to a high of $1,327,105.

The Crouch Company is presently constructing the $1,400,000 addition to City-County Hospital.

One of Western representatives said today they hope to secure a work order for the first of the week. Contract calls for completion of the building in 365 days. School officials hope to have the building ready for the opening of school next year.

The building will have 10 floors of bedrooms for 410 men students with a spacious foyer planned for the building's entrance. It will contain apartments for the director and an assistant. The 11th floor will house the elevator shaft, air conditioning units and other utility equipment.

Architects for the project are Frank Cain, city, and Ben Johnson, Owensboro.

The building will be constructed on the site of what is now Western's athletic practice field. It will be the central structure of what is planned as an eventual dormitory quadrangle.

Total cost including equipping, landscaping and fees has been estimated at $1,317,000.

The dormitory project will be financed through sale of bonds to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Funds to equip the building with additional furniture, if needed, will be paid from the state's capital construction fund.

Bids To Be Opened On 10-Story Dorm At Western

Two representatives of Western State College will go to Frankfort tomorrow for the opening of bids on an 10-story dormitory to be constructed on the college campus.

L. T. Smith, physical plant administrator for the college, and Billy Smith, college business manager, will be accompanied to Frankfort by Frank Cain and Ben Johnson, architects for the proposed project.

The bids are scheduled to be opened at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the Division of Purchases Office at the Capitol Annex in Frankfort.

On Friday, the group will meet with the two low bidders to discuss plans for the building, to be the tallest building in Southern Kentucky.

Construction on the new building is scheduled to begin around Aug. 31, according to the Western public relations department.

Three More Additions To College Faculty And Staff Are Announced

Three additions to the Western State College faculty and administrative staff were announced by Kelly Thompson, president of the college, today.

New members are Robert E. (Ed) Given, Jr., assistant in the public relations office; Randall Capps, department of English and guidance counselor in the Western Training School; and Sgt. James E. Fox, department of military science.

This makes a total of 66 new faculty members and 6 administrative staff members appointed at Western for the 1962-63 school year. A total of 12 new members have joined the college's secretarial staff, making a total of 84 new members of the staff.

Given comes to Western from the Nashville Banner, where he has been a member of the sports staff for the past five years.

A native of Ripley, Tenn., Given was awarded the B. S. degree by Union University, Jackson, Tenn., in 1957. While at Union he worked part-time in the sports department of the Jackson Sun and joined the Banner staff immediately after graduation.

Given and his wife, Shelia, have three sons; Terry, 5, Scott, 2, and Morris Kyle, one month. They reside at Apartment 2, Regents Hall.

Capps will devote half of his duties to teaching in the department of English and the remainder as guidance counselor at the Training School.

He was awarded the M. A. degree by Western in 1961 and the B. A. degree by Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1957. He has done graduate work toward the doctorate degree at the University of the Pacific.

Capps taught English and directed forensics at Bardstow high school, taught English and speech at Anderson County high school, and served as a core teacher in the Owensboro city schools.

Capps and his wife, Joan, have a 3-month old daughter, Jill.

Sgt. Fox joins the department of military science as an instructor. He comes to Western from a four-year tour of duty with the 32nd Armored Division, Batsback, Germany. Prior to his tour of duty overseas, Sgt. Fox was assigned to the Armor School, at Ft. Knox.

Sgt. Fox and his wife, Shirley Mae, have two children, Kimalee, 3, and James E. Jr., 1. They reside at 1954 McElwain Court.

The Tempo Increases

The increased activity in Bowling Green yesterday was obvious to even the most casual observers, and to most residents of the city the reason was obvious.

Bowling Green's two colleges were opening again for the fall semester and the event was apparent on the city's streets. A more rapid tempo was in evidence everywhere.

The re-opening of Western State College and the Bowling Green College of Commerce is always a welcome happening in Bowling Green, since the students and faculties at these two institutions play an important role in the city's economic and social life.

We bid the new and returning students welcome and trust that their next several months in Bowling Green will prove a pleasant and profitable experience.

Western Enrollment Opens

Freshmen Class May Be Largest

Registration opened today for what probably will be the largest freshman class in the history of Western State College.

While the actual number of freshmen won't be known until registration is completed, officials said all indications Sunday were that more new students were arriving on the campus than any other single day in the history of the college.

The opening of a new six-story dormitory for girls helped the arrival of the freshmen to go smoothly. The traffic problem was held to a minimum by the work of ROTC officers under direction of Lt. Col. Grover G. Smith, professor of military science. Most of the freshmen's time today was taken up by counseling and testing, but get-acquainted parties in the dormitories tonight were to help end the day on a relaxing social note.

Still more testing and individual counseling is in store for freshmen tomorrow, to be concluded by general orientation period starting at 7 p.m.

Actual freshman registration begins at 8 a. m. Wednesday and runs all day. The final group of first-year students won't register until the 8-9:30 a. m. time period Thursday morning.

Seniors and graduate students will register Thursday morning. Registration for all other upper-classmen will begin Thursday afternoon and continue through Friday.

All seniors and graduate students will begin registration at the same time. All other students will

Thompson Would End Speculation 9-24-62

Kelly Thompson, president of Western State College, today removed himself from any consideration for the presidency of the University of Kentucky.

Thompson in a letter to S. C. Van Curon, editor of the Frankfort State Journal, stated, "It is my desire to do the very best job that I can as president of Western Kentucky State College. I would, under no circumstances, leave this endeavor for any other position in the United States, regardless of what it might be."

Thompson's letter was telegraphed to Van Curon relative to a statement yesterday in Van Curon's column 'I Say What I Think' which appeared in the Park City Daily News. In the column Van Curon stated that Thompson's name had been mentioned in speculation in connection with the University of Kentucky.

Complete text of Thompson's letter to Van Curon follows:

"Your column, I say what I Think," appearing in yesterday's issue of the Park City Daily News stated that, in speculation, my name had been mentioned incidentally in connection with the University of Kentucky. I realize that this type of speculation is one of America's great pastimes. In fact, I enjoy indulging in it myself.

"In order that there be no further speculation regarding me (if anyone were to be so inclined), I am making the following statement so that my name be removed once and forever from such speculation, not only in connection with the University of Kentucky but relative to any position, anywhere, regardless of the circumstances.

"At the risk of being immodest, I mention the following: Within the past two years I was officially asked to consider a position which carried with it financial remuneration and national prestige to a much greater extent than my present position. My answer declining to even consider the position was final and without hesitation.

"Inasmuch as my services at Western can rightfully be classified as unique in Kentucky, I hope that my words will not be misread in connection with speculation which might arise regarding any other individual. The descriptive word 'unique' is used because of the fact that I am now in my 34th year as an employee of Western Kentucky State College, having been employed by Western's Founder, Dr. H. H. Cherry, in June, 1929. During that long span of time, I have been away from this campus only during a leave of absence of one semester in 1937 and during World War II when I served in the United States Navy.

"I consider my position at Western a matter of dedication and obligation — dedication because of the fact that my work here has been my entire life and will continue to be obligation because of my fervent desire to repay in some small measure the indescribable contribution which Western has made to my personal life.

"It is my desire to do the very best job that I can as President of Western Kentucky State College. I would under no circumstances leave this endeavor for any other position in the United States, regardless of what it might be."

Thompson became president of Western in 1955. Since that time the growth and development of the college has placed Western among the national leaders.

The enrollment has more than trebled since 1955. The physical plant has undergone a spectacular enlargement as eight major buildings have been completed and occupied. Two buildings are now under construction and will be ready for occupancy in Sept. 1963. These are the $3,000,000 Academic-Athletic Building and a 10-story dormitory for men. An eight-grade elementary school in cooperation with the Bowling Green School System will be ready for occupancy on the campus next year.

The expansion of the teaching staff has kept pace with the rapidly rising enrollment while the curricular offerings have been broadened and expanded to meet the needs of student body.

Western Using Converted Apartment

Known as Seminar Center, the four-apartment building at 15th and College streets which Western State College has under lease, houses on its two floors classrooms for the English and Education departments and offices for a number of faculty members.

The building was purchased last summer along with two adjacent pieces of property by the College Heights Foundation from L. B. Powell. The other two, also apartment houses, continue to be rented as dwellings.

The center was designed so that it was easily converted into classrooms and office space.

On the first floor are offices of Dr. Tate C. Page, head of the education department, and six other of the department's faculty, plus a classroom seating approximately 35.

Seven members of the English Department faculty share five offices on the second floor which also has a classroom seating 25 persons and a seminar room which will accommodate 15 students.

"We were sorely in need of a place to reassemble our people having been scattered from the basement of Cherry Hall to the third floor of the library," said Dr. Willson Wood, head of the English Department.

Commenting on the new arrangement, Dean Raymond Cravens said, "We are utilizing space by planning the rooms to accommodate the current number of students instead of having a room designed for 40 with only 15 or 20 in the class."

Western Offers 35 Courses In Evening Classes

Western State College will offer 35 courses in evening classes during the fall semester.

Registration will be conducted from 4 to 8 p. m. Sept. 12-14 at Cherry Hall and from 8 a. m. to noon Sept. 15 at the college physical education building.

Fees will be $6 per semester hour. Courses will be conducted in art, business, economics, education, English, French, geography, government, history, library science, music, psychology and sociology.

Graduate studies also will be available in evening classes.

Western will offer a total of 80 courses in evening and Saturday classes, representing 22 departments.

Three Buildings Purchased By College Heights Foundation

By Bonnie Lyle

Western's road to progress is being lengthened each day with the building of new dormitories, a new coliseum and the rebuilding and repairing of buildings already established. The latest addition to Western's progress report came in the acquisition of three buildings purchased by the College Heights Foundation from Lee Howell at an undisclosed amount.

One of the buildings has been converted into what is now the Seminar Center, which houses on its two floors, various members and classrooms of the education and English departments, respectively.

The other two buildings, apartment houses, are still being rented to the former tenants. The Seminar Center is being rented by the college from the College Heights Foundation, pending future purchase.

The Center was formerly four family apartments, designed in such a way that it was easily converted into classrooms and office space.

First Floor

The first floor is dominated by seven education faculty members; a classroom which seats approximately 35 people, with the remainder devoted to offices, all under the direction of Dr. Tate C. Page, head of the Education Department.

The second floor houses approximately seven members of the English department, a classroom seating some 25 persons and a seminar room which will accommodate about 15 students.

The seven English instructors are assembled in five offices, two of them doubles. According to Dr. Willson Wood, head of the English department, "We were sorely in need of a place to reassemble some of our people, having been formerly scattered from

In conjunction with the matter, Dean Raymond Cravens said, "We feel that we are utilizing space by planning the rooms to accommodate the correct number instead of having a room designed for 40 students with only 15 or 20 in the class."

WSC Registers Record 5,138

Western State College enrollment topped the 5,000 mark for the first time in fall semester registration completed this week.

Regularly enrolled students for college classes number 5,138, Rhea Lazarus, registrar, announced today.

The enrollment marks the largest in the history of the college, a gain of 341 over last year's record enrollment of 4,792.

James A. Carpenter, Western Training School director, reported an enrollment of 433 at the Training School.

Western Area Vocational School students number 251, according to Phillip Hampton, director.

The new six-story dormitory for women opened at the beginning of the new semester Sept. 10 is providing housing for 404 women.

A 10-story dormitory, construction of which was started early this month, is expected to be ready for occupancy for the beginning of the fall semester next year. It will provide housing for 404 men. The skyscraper is the 10th major building constructed at Western in the past seven years.

College officials announced Western will close for Thanksgiving holidays on Wednesday, Nov. 21 and re-open Monday, Nov. 26. Christmas holidays will begin Wednesday, Dec. 19. Classes will resume at noon Wednesday, Jan. 2. The first semester will close Saturday, Jan. 26, and the second semester will open at noon on Tuesday, Jan. 29.

Western Alumni Start Loan Fund for Muhlenberg Students

Mrs. Mary Armstrong of Bremen was elected president of the Muhlenberg County Chapter of the Western Kentucky State College Alumni Association at their annual dinner meeting Friday, Oct. 19, in Central City.

Barrett Green of Central City was named vice-president and Mrs. Kathleen Strader of Hughes-Kirk was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Incumbent Association President Alexander Cather and Mrs. Bernadine Steele announced the formation of a special committee to solicit and handle funds for a special Muhlenberg County scholarship program at Western. Mrs. Steele was named chairman of the committee and Mrs. Verna Nell James of Greenville was elected secretary-treasurer.

The 86 members present contributed $115 that night toward the fund.

President Kelly Thompson was the principal speaker at the alumni meeting held in the basement of the Central City

Methodist Church.

He told the group that Muhlenberg County had 192 students now attending Western College. This was the fourth largest number from any Kentucky county, he said. In addition Muhlenberg County supplied the sixth largest number of freshmen students of any county this school year. Fifty-one freshmen students from Muhlenberg are presently enrolled at Western.

The alumni association also voted to hold a social event each summer for all prospective Western students in Muhlenberg County. Representatives of the college would also attend and tell the prospective college students about Western.

Members of the association participated in a special skit depicting a kangaroo court in which President Thompson was the defendant. Various fictitious characters testified to ways in which President Thompson had disturbed the peace by taking away students' automobiles, requiring strenuous study programs, cluttering up the campus with new buildings and various other acts. As a climax to the trial, President Thompson was permitted to make a plea in his behalf as the principal speaker of the evening.

Western is indeed fortunate in having a man as dedicated as Dr. Kelly Thompson for its President.

Last week, the Herald published the contents of a letter written by Dr. Thompson to S. C. Van Curen, editor of the Frankfort State Journal, which stated that he would, under no circumstances, leave his position as president of Western Kentucky State College for any other position in the United States, regardless of what it might be. Western should be extremely proud of a man who will make this kind of statement.

Dr. Thompson came to Western in June, 1929. He was at that time employed by the founder of the college, Dr. H. H. Cherry. Upon the death of Dr. Paul L. Garrett in 1955, Dr. Thompson was elected by the Board of Regents as president of the college.

Since that time, President Thompson has spearheaded a drive which has been directed at improving and expanding every available resource in order that this college become one of the finest educational institutions in the nation. In the seven short years which Dr. Thompson has been president of the college, the enrollment has tripled; the curricula have been broadened, and the physical plant has been increased to meet the needs of the tremendous increase of students. Since 1955, eight major buildings have been added to the physical plant of the college and construction is presently underway on two more.

With an eye still on the future, plans are being prepared for even further expansion of the college campus and physical facilities.

Most recently, the addition of 84 persons to the personnel of the college marks one of the largest staff increases in the history of the institution.

The guiding light in all this expansion, planning and developing has been President Kelly Thompson. Dr. Thompson realizes the need for adequate educational facilities in this age of science and discovery, and is doing everything in his power to provide these things for the students of Western.

Bowling Green, Kentucky, Wednesday, October 3, 1962

Be The Master

Last Wednesday, in the Western gymnasium, there was held one of the most successful and enthusiastic pep rallies ever witnessed here on the Hill. The spirit and excitement of a school out to win was present in each and every person in the gym. And before the rally had ended, everyone in the building was ready to put on a football uniform and take the field.

This is the kind of spirit it takes to have a winning team. Those guys out on the gridiron like to know that they have the support of all the students they are representing on the football field. If they know you want them to win, they'll try as hard as they can to get that victory. They need some encouragement before the game as well as when the going gets rough.

This same kind of spirit is needed in the classrooms, too. Not the cheering, but the quiet, determined spirit to excel and reach one's goals. In this day and age it takes a lot of pep and enthusiasm to stick with it when the going gets rough, but if the same kind of spirit that was displayed in the gym last Wednesday is also applied to academic work, there is no reason why everyone cannot be a winner.

The motto of Western Kentucky State College is "The Spirit Makes the Master." Students, the spirit is here, in you. Make it work for you in whatever you do, whether it's a pep rally or a research paper, stay in there and fight. Be a winner. Be the Master.

"Grand Old Grad" Award To Be Presented

10-14-62

The first "grand Old Grad" award will be presented by Western State College to a 98-year-old Texan during the college's annual homecoming chapel at 10 a. m. Oct. 27.

Kelly Thompson, president of Western, will receive the award in behalf of Dr. Harry Edgar Thompson, a native of Kentucky who now resides in Longview, Tex. Lee Robertson, director of alumni affairs, will make the presentation for the college and the Western Alumni Association, who are jointly sponsoring the project.

Dr. Thompson, no relation to the college president, is an 1888 graduate of the old Southern Normal School, predecessor of Western Teachers College which later became Western State College. Following his graduation from Southern Normal School, Thompson departed for Stillwater, Okla., where he received his M. A. degree from Oklahoma State University and his Ph. D. in education from Carver College, Oklahoma City. He became a professor at Oklahoma State University in 1893.

He was named president of First National Bank, Ralston, Okla., in 1899, but he never gave up his active career as a teacher. Following World War I, in which Thompson served as an assistant battalion commander, he returned to his first love — education. He finally retired in 1954.

He is the last of a family of 14 and is the lone living member of the first faculty of Oklahoma State University. He now resides with a niece in Longview.

Through the years, Thompson has contributed a number of historical papers, legal documents and articles to the Kentucky Library here, but his visits to Kentucky have been irregular.

Robertson yesterday said the "Grand Old Grad" award is not to be an annual one and will be presented only at the discretion of the Alumni Association and the college.

Western Homecoming Is Success

Decked out in all her autumnal glory by mid-week frosts, the Western State College campus was roamed again by thousands of old grads yesterday as Homecoming was observed on the Hilltop.

Eastern State failed to play the perfect foil in the football game which attracted a record 7,500 fans. Western led for three quarters but finally lost by the odd score of 6-5. (Details and an action picture are on the sports pages).

But otherwise a benevolent "Old Sol", which shone so brightly that the temperature spiraled up to 65 degrees in early afternoon, and unbounded enthusiasm wrought one of the grandest celebrations in the school's long history.

Breakfast began at the breakfast of day and continued until noon when luncheons took over at many departments welcomed back their past stars. After the football game ended, receptions, dinners, friendly get-togethers and some dancing were on the menu.

Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt Spends Day On Campus

Wilson W. Wyatt, Lt. Governor of Kentucky and senatorial candidate in the November election, was the guest speaker in chapel last Wednesday. Mr. Wyatt arrived at 9:30 a.m. and was met by Bob Denhardt and Judy Doyle, President and Vice-President of Young Democrats. He then had a meeting with President Kelly Thompson until time for the chapel program.

During chapel, Pres. Thompson recognized several of the distinguished guests in the audience: Dee Huddleston, State Youth Campaign Chairman, Ralph Lewis, traveling assistant in the campaign, Worth Bingham, Washington correspondent for the Courier-Journal, and Maxey Harlen, an on-stage guest, who is a member of the Board of Regents and a personal friend of Mr. Wyatt's.

After Mr. Wyatt's address, he met students at the Goal Post, then ate lunch at the school cafeteria. He spent most of his time until 1:30 p.m. talking to the students. Then he left for downtown Bowling Green and, at 3:00 p.m. he appeared on WLTV with Mayor Robert Graham, Mrs. Jones Mercer, and Raymond McClard. This was a thirty minute discussion on various campaign issues. That evening, Lt. Gov. Wyatt flew to Louisville to make an address.

The citizens of Bowling Green and the students at Western had a first-hand opportunity to talk to the Lt. Gov. and to hear from him how he stands on the basic issues in the campaign for the Senate.

LT. GOV. WILSON WYATT GIVES ASSEMBLY ADDRESS—while campaigning in Western Kentucky last week. Mr. Wyatt discussed his platform and stated that he was in close agreement with the policies and program of President John F. Kennedy. He spoke to a capacity audience in Van Meter Auditorium. Shown on stage with the Lt. Governor are, from left, Dero Downing, dean of admissions; Rhea Lazarus, registrar; and President Kelly Thompson.

Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt Spends Day On Campus

Wilson W. Wyatt, Lt. Governor of Kentucky and senatorial candidate in the November election, was the guest speaker in chapel last Wednesday. Mr. Wyatt arrived at 9:30 a.m. and was met by Bob Denhardt and Judy Doyle, President and Vice-President of Young Democrats. He then had a meeting with President Kelly Thompson until time for the chapel program.

During chapel, Pres. Thompson recognized several of the distinguished guests in the audience: Dee Huddleston, State Youth Campaign Chairman, Ralph Lewis, traveling assistant in the campaign, Worth Bingham, Washington correspondent for the Courier-Journal, and Maxey Harlen, an on-stage guest, who is a member of the Board of Regents and a personal friend of Mr. Wyatt's.

After Mr. Wyatt's address, he met students at the Goal Post, then ate lunch at the school cafeteria. He spent most of his time until 1:30 p.m. talking to the students. Then he left for downtown Bowling Green and, at 3:00 p.m. he appeared on WLTV with Mayor Robert Graham, Mrs. Jones Mercer, and Raymond McClard. This was a thirty minute discussion on various campaign issues. That evening, Lt. Gov. Wyatt flew to Louisville to make an address.

The citizens of Bowling Green and the students at Western had a first-hand opportunity to talk to the Lt. Gov. and to hear from him how he stands on the basic issues in the campaign for the Senate.

Western Homecoming Is Success

10-28-62

Decked out in all her autumnal glory by mid-week frosts, the Western State College campus was roamed again by thousands of old grads yesterday as Homecoming was observed on the Hill top.

Eastern State failed to play the perfect foil in the football game which attracted a record 7,500 fans. Western led for three quarters but finally lost by the odd score of 6-5. (Details and an action picture are on the sports pages).

But otherwise a benevolent "Old Sol", which shone so brightly that the temperature spiraled up to 65 degrees in early afternoon, and unbounded enthusiasm wrought one of the grandest celebrations in the school's long history.

Breakfast began at the break of day and continued until noon when luncheons took over at many departments welcomed back their past stars. After the football game ended, receptions, dinners, friendly get-togethers and some dancing were on the menu.

Reigning over all the pageantry was stunning brunette Wanda Steenbergen of Glasgow, who was crowned Homecoming queen in the stadium just before the game began.

The Baptist Student Union and White Stone Hall in particular had something to celebrate in the undergraduate quarters.

The BSU float, which depicted a Western in orbit, was the Homecoming parade winner. Delta Kappa was judged second and Delta Tau Sigma was third.

White Stone Hall won the dormitory decoration contest, with Potter Hall second and the Home Economics department and North Hall tying for third.

Western's Board of Regents, including Max B. Harlin of this city and Douglas Keen of Scottsville, and State Supt. of Public Instruction Wendell Butler joined Kelly Thompson, Western's president, at many of the functions.

Two of the most surprised persons at Homecoming were Miss Frances Richards, long-time guiding force behind the College Heights Herald (the college newspaper) and Maxie Jackson, composing room foreman of the Park City Daily News.

They were announced as recipients of Kentucky Colonel commissions during the Herald breakfast.

The massive throng at the football game arrived in many instances with top coats but quickly moved into a multi-colored array of jackets, sweaters and chrysanthemums.

Fans on the south side of the stadium were treated to one of the most dazzling panoramas of humanity ever seen on the Hill. Those on the north, staring into the sun, could look over a countryside that was a riot of hues and tints and apparently never heard of Castro or Cuba.

The tense world situation was forgotten as the crowd worked itself into a lather over the sizzling football game. The one-point decision for Eastern was just the reverse of last year's game when Western wrecked the Maroons' Homecoming by the odd score of 16-15.

One of the final activities of the evening was a dinner meeting of members of Western's 1952 football team, which shellacked Eastern 48-6 and won the Refrigerator Bowl championship at Evansville.

Attending the dinner were old teammates Bobby Bilyeu, Marvin Satterly, Jimmy Feix, Buddy Simpson, Buddy Sydnor, Boll Ploumis, Gene McFadden, Bill Tate, Walt Apperson, Gordon Ware, Max Stevens, Warren Mahan, Ed Worley, Arnie Oaken, Willard Price and Jack Theuerkauf.

As the star-lit evening wore on, the rare defeats of the day were forgotten by most, who were already looking forward to Homecoming, 1963.

of Western's Homecoming celebration. It was rival Eastern which though, by a 6-5 score.

Western Refinancing Plan Okayed

10-28-62

A plan for the establishment of a Housing and Dining System at Western State College through a refinancing program was approved by the Board of Regents in a meeting at the college yesterday.

The refinancing plan calls for the issuance of $5,420,000 in Housing and Dining System Revenue Bonds.

All nine dormitories now occupied and the Student Center are included in the plan. The new 11-story dormitory for men is also included as well as any housing and dining facilities built at the college in the future.

Upon completion of the plan for reorganization of the financing of housing and dining facilities at Western, the college's financial capacity to finance new academic buildings will be increased, as will its ability to create expanded housing and dining facilities.

The board approved a recommendation of President Kelly Thompson that the military science, physical education and foreign language departments be housed in the new Academic-Athletic Building. The $2,900,000 structure now being built on the Russellville Road will be ready for occupancy next September.

The military science and physical education departments now housed in the present Physical Education Building. The foreign languages classes are held on the third floor of Cherry Hall.

The Board also approved a recommendation by Thompson that the new six-story dormitory for women located on the Kentucky Building grounds be named State Hall. This new dormitory was opened in September and provides housing for 404 women. It is the sixth new dormitory built on the campus during the past six years.

The board approved other reports on projects now underway at the college and acted on routine business.

Attending the meeting held in Thompson's office were H. Bemis-Lawrence and Owen Hammons, Louisville; Dr. Gerald Edds, Calhoun; Hugh Poland, Guthrie; Douglas Keen, Scottsville; Maxey B. Harlin, Bowling Green, and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler, Frankfort.

The board members and their wives were guests along with Mr. and Mrs. Thompson at the 'W' Club Luncheon at noon and attended the Homecoming football game, participating in the coronation ceremonies of the 1962 homecoming queen. Butler crowned the queen.

WSC Dorm Damaged By Blaze

Potter Hall, a women's dormitory on the campus of Western State College, yesterday was damaged by a fire which broke out in the closet of a first-floor room.

Pumper companies No. 1 and 3 and the aerial ladder unit from Central Station went to the college at 3:37 p.m. They found the lower floor of the building filled with smoke, but the fire had not spread from the room.

Firemen made short work of the fire, but several hours were required to mop up the water poured into the room and which spread throughout the first floor of the building. The room and its contents were heavily damaged.

Occupants of the damaged room, Miss Linda Rudd, a senior from Madisonville, and Miss Carolyn Helm, a sophomore from Nebo, were not in the building at the time the fire was discovered.

College officials today said an investigation is being made in an effort to determine the cause of the fire. Firemen said there apparently was no wiring in the closet in which the blaze broke out.

Despite the water and smoke damage, a crew from the college maintenance department had the first floor rooms habitable by nightfall with the exception of four rooms closest to the blaze. The eight girls in these rooms were moved to other rooms in the building.

College officials were highly complimentary of the work of City

Firemen and volunteers who aided in the mopping-up operation. As soon as the fire was under control, President Kelly Thompson called for six volunteers to aid maintenance men in cleaning up. More than 20 men students responded to the call.

One of the co-eds, Sylvia Gilbert, a sophomore from Drakesboro, was overcome by smoke. City Police took her to the hospital where she was treated and dismissed.

Fire Capt. Lonnie Bellamy was also treated for a cut over the left eye. There were no other known injuries in the fire.

College officials had cleared the building by the time firemen arrived and fire doors separating the floors had been closed to control drafts feeding the fire.

"We were just sitting there. . . Dean (Charles) Keown came and made us all hold hands (to keep the group together as they were led from the building). . . you couldn't see for the smoke," said a co-ed who escaped from the building.

About 15 hours after the fire on the college campus, firemen were sent on a false alarm run to City - County Hospital. At 6:12 a.m. today, a malfunction in the automatic fire alarm system at the hospital brought out the three Central Station units.

Student Advisory Council Holds Kick-Off Breakfast

The President's Student Advisory Council met at an informal breakfast gathering in the cafeteria Monday morning, November 12, to officially inaugurate the activities of the Council.

Approximately 75 members of the student body, representing the various classes, clubs and organizations on the Hill, and their faculty advisors, attended the breakfast. Following the breakfast, Dean of Students Charles A. Keown introduced the student representatives and the faculty and administrative personnel attending the breakfast, after which President Kelly Thompson addressed the group, outlining the purposes and objectives of the Council.

President Thompson stated that the Council had come a long way since its formation seven years ago, and that the time seemed ripe for the Council to become a more effective group than it had been in the past. Although the Council had been very helpful in the past in bringing to light student opinion on various issues pertinent to the college, Dr. Thompson is of the opinion that the full potential of the Council has not yet been reached.

Better Cross-Section

Dr. Thompson told the members of the Council that rapid expansion and advancement being made in every facet of the college's operation called for comprehensive study of the organization of the Advisory Council in an attempt to allow for a better cross-section of student representation.

He illustrated his point by saying that before one can construct a building that will stand up under the stress of time, there must first be a strong foundation for the building. He also stated that he felt that the foundation had an excellent beginning and that it was now time to begin building upward and creating the framework of a sturdy construction.

When an effective plan for the reorganization of the Advisory Council has been completed, Dr. Thompson said that the plan would be sent to the Board of Regents for adoption by the college.

Representatives Listed

Student representatives on the Student Advisory Council, and their organizations are as follows: Senior Class-J. For Evaluation

Derryberry To Head Team Visiting WSC

Dr. Everett Derryberry, president of Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Cookeville, will head the group of educators visiting the Western State College campus next week as an evaluation team representing the commission on colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Derryberry graduated Summa Cum Laude at the University of Tennessee with the highest academic record in the history of the university. In all of UT's history, he is the only straight-A student who was also a member of the varsity football team.

Selected as a Rhodes Scholar, he continued his graduate work at Oxford University, England, from which he received the A. B. and M. A. degrees. He taught at Burritt College, the University of Tennessee Junior College and was head of the department of languages and literature at Murray State College before being named president of Tennessee Polytechnic Institute in November of 1940.

The team of educators headed by Derryberry will arrive on the Western campus Sunday afternoon and remain until Wednesday to evaluate the results of an institutional self-study conducted by the college over the past two years.

The self-study is designed to aid the college in re-assessing objectives, exploring ways and means by which educational efficiency may be improved and preparing for the ever-increasing demands upon present-day institutions of higher learning.

EVERETT DERRYBERRY

The entire project is conducted in cooperation with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Western's regional accrediting agency. The study will help Western project its educational program and plans for growth within the framework of expressed purposes.

Every aspect of the total operation of the college has been covered in the self-study as efforts of every member of the faculty and staff were utilized.

On the evaluation team with Derryberry are:

Dean J. C. Horton Burch, college of arts and sciences, Georgia State College, Atlanta, Ga.

Edward Alvey, Jr., dean of the college, Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va.

Belt Keathley, dean of students, Middle Tennessee State College, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Douglas R. Jones, director of department of education, East Carolina College, Greenville, N. C.

Miss Louise Savage, associate librarian, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va.

Western Gets Grant For Teacher Institute

12/2/62

Special to The Courier-Journal

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 2.—Western Kentucky State College has received a $94,790 grant from the National Science Foundation in Washington, President Kelly Thompson announced Sunday.

The grant is Western's 18th from the N.S.F. since 1958. Their total value is $600,106.

The grant will support combined summer and in-service institutes in science and mathematics for high-school teachers. The summer institute will be held in 1963, and the in-service institute during the 1963-64 academic year.

Dr. Ward C. Sumpter of Western's chemistry department is the director of the institutes. Dr. H. L. Stephens, head of the biology department, will serve as associate director.

65-Teacher Capacity

The institutes will offer classes in biology, physics, chemistry, geography-geology, and mathematics. The summer institute grant will cover stipends for 65 teachers in these courses. The in-service institute grant will cover study for 60 teachers.

The courses will also be open to a limited number of graduate students not receiving stipends under the N.S.F. grant.

High-school mathematics and science teachers interested in the institute should contact Dr. Sumpter, chemistry department, Western Kentucky State College.

BETA BESTS . . . Among winners in the Kentucky Beta Club talent contest last night were, from left, Phyllis Thompson, 15; Connie Wilson, 16, and Patricia Lyons, 17. The first two girls were members of a Metcalfe County High School group which presented a nightclub skit. Miss Lyons won individual honors with a jazz dance.

Beta Club To Hear Thompson Today

Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western Kentucky State College, will speak to about 1,550 members of the Kentucky Beta Club today at the Kentucky Hotel.

The group is the state branch of a national service and leadership organization for high-school students. There are more than 8,000 Kentucky members.

At the convention yesterday members of 11 Beta chapters competed in a talent show.

Metcalfe County High School won the skit division with its presentation of "Club Beta," a nightclub variety show.

The individual talent winner was a senior from Lexington Lafayette High School, Patricia Lyons. She pantomimed a jazz dance interpretation of "Marian The Librarian," from "The Music Man." The two-day meeting will end tonight with installation of officers and the annual ball.

Lafayette Boy Elected State Beta President

David Lowry Rouse, a junior at Lafayette High School, Lexington, was elected state president of the Kentucky Beta Clubs during the closing day of the clubs' two-day convention yesterday at the Kentucky Hotel.

Rouse, chosen by a majority of the 1,784 delegates representing 7,061 members in the state, succeeds Greg Haynes of Seneca High School.

Also elected to one-year terms were Bruce M. Reynolds of Glasgow High School, vice-president, and Donna Patton of Franklin-Simpson High School, Franklin, secretary.

Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, asked the delegates to pledge themselves to work for Beta Club goals during the coming years.

Promoting Citizenship

These include promoting citizenship and leadership, rewarding achievement and effort, and inspiring honesty and tolerance.

Thompson, principal convention speaker, took as his subject club objectives and key words of the Beta Club creed: honesty, justice, service, cooperation, responsibility, industriousness, humility, and charity.

"In my opinion, the Beta Club is the best all-around high-school organization in existence in America today," he said.

College Receives $20,906 AEC Grant For Education

A $20,906 educational grant from the Atomic Energy Commission has helped widen the field of nuclear physics to undergraduates at Western.

The funds from the grant have been used to fill one of the college's physics laboratories with devices used for measuring radioactive radiation.

"The new equipment has expanded our nuclear facilities a hundred-fold," said Edward A. Barnhardt of Western's physics department.

"We'll be able to do so many things in our laboratory now, that we were not able to do before."

"For instance, we'll have a neutron howitzer which will enable us to make radioactive materials ourselves."

Barnhardt is teaching the two-semester course, "Modern Physics Laboratory," for which most of the new equipment is used.

Well Qualified

He is well qualified for the task, having worked with the Buckman Laboratories in Memphis and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. A 1959 graduate of Southwestern College in Memphis, he received his M. S. degree from Vanderbilt University and has completed all course work toward his Ph.D. degree, also at Vanderbilt.

Institute Set At Western For Students

Special to The Courier-Journal

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 21.—Western Kentucky State College has been awarded a grant of $22,535 by the National Science Foundation to conduct a fifth summer science-training program for high-school students, according to Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western.

Two weeks ago Western was awarded a grant of $94,790 by the N.S.F. for the fifth summer institute and sixth in-service institute for science and mathematics teachers in Kentucky high schools.

The high-school student institute will be held during the 1963 summer session at Western and the in-service institute will be held during the 1963-64 academic year.

Approximately 80 high-ability students from Kentucky high schools will be accepted to participate in the program June 10 through August 2.

An estimated 40,000 persons watched Bowling Green's annual Christmas parade.

An average of $46.20 per hundredweight was established on the opening day of tobacco sales in the city.

A baby was born to a Boatland Road resident on her way to City - County Hospital in an ambulance.

Western State College gained a 34-19 football victory over Arkansas State in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville, Ind.

Western Grad To Join Faculty

Special to The Courier-Journal

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 21.—Curtis A. Logsdon will join the department-of-physics faculty at Western Kentucky State College at the beginning of the second semester January 29, according to Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of the college.

Logsdon has been a physicist with General Electric Company in Louisville since 1955. His latest assignment has been as a consultant in acoustics.

The new faculty member is a native of Hardin County. He served three years with the Air Force before entering Western in 1951. He was awarded the B. S. degree in 1955 with majors in physics and mathematics.

Four Local Educators To Attend Conference

12/9/62

Four local educators will attend the Kentucky Association of School Administrators conference starting tomorrow in Louisville.

Kelly Thompson, president of Western State College, Dr. Tate C. Page of the Western education department, E. R. Ward, county superintendent, and Dr. W. R. McNeill, city superintendent, will attend the three-day meeting.

Thompson also will attend a U. S. State Department regional foreign policy conference at the University of Louisville tomorrow and Tuesday.

Eight staff members of the State Department, including Walt W. Restow, chairman of the Policy Planning Council, will meet at the U. of L. campus.

McNeill is president-elect of the Association of School Administrators. Thompson will serve as a consultant at the conference.

St. Joe High Hears Debate Exhibition

Eight Senators from the Congress Debate club presented their demonstration of the year at St. Joseph's school, Wednesday, November 14.

Dr. William Jenkins, head of the Business and Government department and club advisor introduced the Congress Debate club as the oldest organization on the Hill. He stated that the club gives students an opportunity for experience in public speaking and debate. Mr. Jenkins pointed out that most people lack skill and knowledge concerning parliamentary procedure.

The institute committee working with Sumpter and Stephens will consist of Dr. C. P. McNally, head of the chemistry department; Dr. Marvin Russell, head of the physics department; Dr. Lucia Anderson, biology department; Dr. Allan Anderson, head of the mathematics department;

Dr. Paul Terrell, head of the department of geography and geology; Dr. Raymond L. Cravens, dean of the college; Dero G. Downing, dean of admissions; and Dr. Tate C. Page, head of the education department.

"This will be Western's fifth summer institute and its sixth in-service institute for science and mathematics teachers," Sumpter said.

"We are happy to be able to help promote the National Science Foundation's efforts to upgrade the quality of instruction in science in the high schools of the nation," he continued. "These two institutes here are a part of several hundred the NSF will support throughout the country this coming year."

The institutes will offer classes in the fields of biology, physics, chemistry, geography-geology and mathematics. The summer institute grant will cover stipends for 64 teachers in these courses. The in-service institute grant will cover study for 60 teachers.

The courses offered will also be open to a limited number of graduate students not receiving stipends under the NSF grant, thus helping to broaden Western's graduate curriculum, college officials said.

With the approval of the director of the institute, those who are taking institute courses under NSF grants may also enroll in the college's regular courses.

High school mathematics and science teachers interested in the institute should contact Dr. Ward C. Sumpter, chemistry department, Western State College.
